PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, in a good speech to the newspaper men at the Associated Press gathering in New York yesterday, said, among other things:

"The danger to America is not in the direction of the failure to maintain its economic position, but in the direction of the failure to maintain its ideals."

THAT'S A GOOD sentence, but it needs to be made definite. What are "America's ideals"? The Declaration of Independence expresses some of them, the Constitution expresses others. The most important of all ideals is the ideal of freedom.

AND AS regards freedom, FREE SPEECH and a FREE PRESS, which mean free expression of thought, whether in books, newspapers, moving pictures or speeches, are most important.

Let the people talk to each other freely, and they will keep themselves safe.

Napoleon knew it, when he said that if he granted complete freedom of the press, he would not be able to maintain his power—which was that of a dictator—for three weeks.

JOHN BURKE, able Shakespearean actor, played his last role on this planet two days ago, but he didn't know it. He was dead and doctors, in accordance with his will, investigated his body in the interest of science. They will make a careful study of his brain cells.

IT IS HARD to know much about the brain, when you look into it. You can see how much it weighs, but even weight doesn't mean much. Idiots have died with brains heavier than the brains of eminent scientists.

WHAT DOES count is the depth of the convolutions. The deeper they sink into the brain matter the higher the development. Those convolutions are very deep in a highly educated white man, not nearly so deep in the brain of a savage, quite feeble in that of our alleged half brothers, the higher apes.

PROFESSOR MacALISTER reports the discovery in Jerusalem of a trench built before Abraham was born, and used three thousand years before the birth of Christ for the defence of the city.

SUCH antiquity is not surprising.

Jerusalem, located on the route that camels and merchants took on their journeys from Egypt to the head of the Persian Gulf, and to the rich lands between the Tigris and the Euphrates, must always have been an important spot, commercially and historically.

We know it only as Jerusalem, after it had become the "home town" of the Jewish people, originally Bedouins of un-

Evelyn's Appeal Keeps Thaw in Asylum

ROXBURY BOY KILLED IN BOUT AT ARENA

FREEDOM OF THAW DELAYED

Harry Back in Asylum, Pending Move for Appeal; Evelyn Bitter at Jury Verdict

Philadelphia, April 23.—Harry K. Thaw, pronounced sane last night by a jury, is back in Kirkbride's Insane Asylum today awaiting final decision of the court on an appeal by Evelyn Thaw, his former wife, against the verdict.

Thaw was out early this morning for a walk around the grounds. He appeared happy in the expectation of his third release in twenty years from correctional institutions.

Harry was fairly calm after his brainstorm at the close of the trial. He announced that he expected to go immediately to New York to plead not guilty to a charge pending against him for his attack on the Gump boy.

The latter signed an agreement not to prosecute when Thaw's mother settled with young Gump's parents for a large amount of cash.

EVELYN BITTER AT VERDICT

Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's former wife, because of whom he killed Stanford White nearly a score of years ago, was interviewed over the telephone at the trial.

"There was dirty work at the cross roads," said Evelyn. "It was the Thaw money again. Now watch the fur fly. It won't be long before the public is served with another sensation in the Thaw case similar to that involving young Gump."

Evelyn is bitter against the jury. She is bitter against Judge Monaghan.

"This jury verdict doesn't convince me that Harry is sane," said Evelyn. "I know him. His condition, in fact, is worse now than it ever has been. Judge Monaghan and the jury that freed him should be held responsible for his future acts."

Evelyn planned to see a new lawyer today. She was dissatisfied with the way Attorney Gray handled the interests of her son, Russell Thaw, during the trial.

"I don't know what course I shall pursue," she said. "I want to see a lawyer first. But my son's interests will be taken care of, you can bet on that. If Harry is permitted to remain at liberty I am fearful for my safety and that of my son."

Evelyn indignantly denied reports that a trust fund had been established for Russell.

"The Thaws are not contributing

BOBBED BANDIT PLEADS GUILTY

New York, April 22.—The bandit carrees of Celia and Edward Cooney came to a drab close today when they pleaded guilty to robbery in the first degree. They will be sentenced Monday.

The bobbed-hair bandit girl and her pal companion whose bold raids and resulting notes kept police of New York on edge for months gave up without a struggle.

They repudiated two attorneys who appeared in court and attempted to enter pleas of not guilty for them.

"We have no lawyers and want none," the twenty-year-old girl desperado said.

The lawyers, John Schavrein and Samuel S. Liebowitz, said Cooney could plead as he wished, but that

ALLSTON MAN SHOT; GIRL HELD

Assailant Sought by Police in Mysterious Shooting Affair Early Today

Reuben Robinson, a traveling salesman of No. 11 Idlewild street, Allston, is in the hospital suffering from two bullet wounds; Mrs. Marion McGuire of No. 4 Price road, Allston, is in a cell, and police are looking for an unknown gunman.

The two figured in a shooting affair at Harvard street and Commonwealth avenue, early today.

Mrs. McGuire, whose husband is said by police to be serving a term in a Maine jail for drug peddling, left the splendid Restaurant, at Harvard street and Commonwealth avenue, with a young gunman whose name she insists she does not know.

Robinson also left the restaurant about the same time.

A moment later Patrolman Malcolm Pearson, who was in the restaurant, ran to the street when he heard two shots. He found Robinson staggering into a doorway while the woman's escort was vanishing down an areaway.

The officer chased the fleeing man but lost him in a maze of alleys and side streets. He returned and took Robinson to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where the salesman was found to be suffering from a bullet wound in his left thigh and another in his left leg.

Robinson refused to give the officer any version of the shooting.

In the meantime Mrs. McGuire was taken into custody. She was questioned by Special Officer James Phillips. At first she refused to talk, but finally told part of the story.

"I had been to a show last night," she said. "My husband is away and I was entering the restaurant when I met a man who did the shooting. I only know him slightly.

BRAVES IN 1ST HOME CONTEST

Fans Plan Great Welcome for Manager Bancroft and His New Stars

By NICK FLATLEY

Boston welcomes Dave Bancroft and the Braves today.

Boston Wits welcome these latest citizens too. The city is all arrayed for a regular old-fashioned welcome Summer. And indications of a riot are missing along the horizon.

These Braves haven't months-tured a remarkable winning record thus far, but they have been every one fine baseball part the game. They defeated the Phils in an extra inning game, after taking an other in a no-hit, no-run performance. They dropped three in a row by a single run to the Giants on Giants, and they didn't have a lot of luck in any of the losses.

The team has been getting good pitching, and has been fielding well and that combination hasn't won a lot of ball games.

Boston fans are anxious to see the Braves, anyhow. They have been reading all Spring about the new great combination around second base—Bancroft and Barnes—and they want to applaud a few double plays.

Young Padgett, who was counted on to be an outstanding performer, didn't have a fair opportunity to show what he could do. The youngster awaited for the inaugural. The first stanzas inside and Padgett's boys had all his pitchers mastered. A triple play at one Wagner, but as it came on the last day of a game Padgett, the crowd that saw the double would have been none for a hundred famous.

Small Ponder is the midget type that goes the round, a la Dudley Lee. He says that kind of a flashy fielder, but not quite enough, and he has always been a lot of hitting in the minor leagues. He's perfectly suited personality to be a real hero.

A list of other baseball games as

MOLINARI DIES AFTER KNOCKOUT

Floored by Punch From Picardy in Amateur Exhibition Fight

Michael Molinari, eighteen-year-old amateur boxer of No. 112 George street, Roxbury, died at the City Hospital, today from injuries sustained in an amateur bout at the Arena last night.

Death was caused by concussion of the brain, caused when Molinari fell to the floor when he was knocked down in the first round of a three-round bout with Jimmy Picardy of East Boston.

The bout with Picardy was to have decided the 112-pound championship in the novice classes.

A short time before, Molinari defeated Harry Singleton of the West End in three smashing rounds that decided the 108-pound title.

The 112-pound event was one of sixteen bouts scheduled by the Associated Y. M. C. A. Athletic Leagues of Greater Boston and other districts of Massachusetts. Each bout was scheduled to go three rounds.

Molinari boxed exceptionally well in the first round, but weakened in the second.

A left hook to the body had evidently been the cause of the fatal injury, it was stated by physicians who examined the boy. Molinari fought gamely through the three rounds and, although he had the misfortune to lose, his opponent never found. He was awarded the decision.

This brought the youngster to the well known, according to physicians.

THAW BACK IN ASYLUM AS HE AWAITS FINAL ORDER OF FREEDOM

...ion cost to our support, she said. "If they were I would not be starting in a cabaret."

William A. Gray, retained as counsel by Evelyn for her son, has requested the usual four days in which to file a motion for a new trial. No date has yet been set for hearing on the motion. It has not been learned if Gray will continue as Evelyn's counsel or not.

In the meantime Harry Thaw is ...ain clothing in Kirkbride's Insane Asylum. Stanford White is mouldering in his grave, and Evelyn Nesbit is dancing at Atlantic City every midnight until dawn.

Thaw's aged mother, Mary Copley Thaw, heard the news of the jury's verdict in her suite at the Ritz Carlton. Shortly afterward, Harry, in charge of attendants, was taken to her.

EXPLAINS HIS OUTBREAK.

Harry had a prepared statement to give out explaining his boy-...up as an open table after the jury had filed out. Attorney Gray had been giving the jury a sketch of Harry's history and the millionaire completely lost his composure.

He described a number of incidents in Harry's earlier life, described the ...judges and tearfully returned to his prepared statement, which is given here in full and just as dictated to the secretary as follows:

"About an hour before the noon...ing session Mr. Ovens and I decided ...counsel when there was a danger ...that ... might be with...drawn and if not, ... I was ...myself.

"The Union news reporter, ... Mr. Beamed and the New York American and I believe the New York Times covered this and I believe the rest all know now.

"Mr. Hughes, I now was mistaken and so I attempted to treat Mr. Hughes's insistence with as attentive ...ing and as I attempted to treat Mr. ...Kirby and I had arranged to assist Miss Nesbit (should she like it) but that may be slightly delayed. However, I believe no one will object in case I may manage this.

"Judge Patterson's charge was admirable. His first paragraph was absolutely sound.

JURY OUT 7 HRS. 35 MINS.

The verdict declaring him sane was returned by the jury after seven hours and twenty-five minutes of deliberation.

A seven-eight jail yell and ...clobbering, faltering, shaking as if in had the pale, so reported the verdict. He stood as foreman of the jury, shaking like a leaf. His hands trembling so hard he could be seen from the back of the absolutely quiet courtroom.

In a whisper which no one but James J. Gallagher, the court clerk heard, and Gallagher was standing close beside him, the foreman said:

"We find for the plaintiff."

REPEATS VERDICT.

But the foreman did not find Thaw, as he is known in West Philadelphia, ...mitted to be sane there was no ...ake. He found over Judge Cal...ehey's ear and whispered again:

"You say you find him sane and able to manage his own estate?" roared Gallagher.

The old man nodded. He seemed terrible. One of the negroes on the jury leaned forward and almost fell over the jurors seated in front of him.

So the verdict read. Harry K. Thaw, the man who has been in and out of jails and asylums for more than fifteen years since he shot Stanford White in Madison Square Garden roof, was "turned out."

Filene's Automatic Bargain BASEMENT

Second great day of our

demonstration of how our plan cuts prices

New England folks know this is a DIFFERENT kind of a basement, though MANY do not know exactly what is different about it. In 1909 Filene's Basement originated the automatic plan to help reduce cost of clothes. Any merchandise unsold after 30 selling days is given away to charity, but in the meantime it takes automatic reductions of 25% after 12 selling days, 50% after 18 selling days, 75% after 24 selling days, and they are pretty sure to sell at one of these stages. As a matter of fact, nearly all our goods are priced so LOW they sell at the FIRST price without any reductions. In short, the automatic plan means that these penalties of giving goods away and taking reductions forces our buyers to buy only bargain goods and price them LOW to start with—THAT'S WHY TODAY AND EVERY DAY THE FILENE BASEMENT IS A PLACE TO LOWER YOUR CLOTHES COSTS by providing hundreds of bargains daily like these below

UNITED SHOE AND OTHER BIG CONCERNS IN PROTEST AGAINST PROPOSED BOOST

The Department of Public Utilities today began public hearings on petitions of the mayors of Boston and Gloucester, the United Shoe Machinery Company, F. W. Bridges & Co., the Retail Trade Board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce and others relative to proposed increases in rates for certain telephone services and facilities by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company.

The greatest increase asked is that for switchboards. Others involve a boost of "person-to-person" toll calls, appointment and messenger calls, while schedules of overtime periods which were in effect prior to 1919 on certain station-to-station toll calls are restored.

When Chairman Aiveth of the commission opened the hearing he asked if there was anyone in opposition to the rate increases. One-half of the audience stood.

Members of the General Court from eight cities entered their protest as did the Essex County Commissioners and the Worcester Chamber of Commerce.

Charles S. Pierce, vice-president and general counsel of the telephone company, asked for permission to present President Matt H. Jones.

HIT PRIVATE LINES.

President Jones outlined the reasons why his company desires to increase certain rate schedules.

First he said the proposed changes did not affect the local service or the ordinary subscriber in any way but do they affect any toll rates between points within the metropolitan Boston and suburban area.

They do effect lines used privately by large customers as a special convenience and they affect switchboards and order-boards used in connection with private branch exchanges for which present rates are very much below cost.

Secondly, the company is not seeking this revenue to make good the loss of the strike which occurred last Summer.

"That cost has been paid by the stockholders as it has been charged against the surplus of the company," he said.

During the first four months of this year, according to Mr. Jones, the Telephone Company failed by $2,000,000 to earn its dividend. The outlook for the balance of the year is no better, he said.

On cross-examination Mr. Jones admitted that the company buys practically all its supplies from the Western Electric Company, a subsidiary of the American Telephone & Telegraph Company.

DEFENDS CONTRACT.

Asked if he had ever considered the advisability of buying from independent companies, President Jones replied that in his opinion the Western Electric was cheaper.

Questioned by Corporation Counsel Sullivan, President Jones told of the contractural relation with the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, under which the local company pays 4¾ per cent. of its gross revenue yearly for certain considerations.

These considerations, the witness said, included financing, and the benefit of the developments in the telephone industries made by research, accounting and other experts of the parent company.

Asked if he had considered the advisability of terminating the contract with the American Telephone & Telegraph Company and entering the field as an independent, President Jones said he had, but had come to the conclusion the contract was the best the local company has.

He said the American Telephone & Telegraph Company owns 58 per cent. of the common stock of the New England company and 30 per cent. of the stock of the Southern New England company.

Referring to loans made by the American to the New England company, President Jones said his organization paid 6 per cent. interest at all times, no matter what the money market might be. He added there was no obligation on the part of the New England organization to obtain all its loans from the parent company.

The witness said the new rates would increase the revenue about $1,100,000 per year, of which amount approximately $900,000 or a little over three-quarters, would come from Massachusetts.

Corporation Counsel Sullivan said he had filed for Mayor Curley a petition for a general investigation of telephone rates and a revision downward.

In response to a suggestion from Chairman Aiveth, he began a cross-examination of President Jones, by asking what relationship the necessary increases in the capital plant expenditure bear to the request for increases in rates.

To this President Jones replied that money for necessary increases in the plant could not be obtained without increased revenue.

"In other words," asked Attorney Sullivan, "your executive management can't maintain its efficiency on your present capital, so you want to increase your charges to the public?"

CHARGES SUITOR TOOK HER CASH TO WED RIVAL

Auto Salesman Is Accused by Woman Who Says He Jilted Her for Nurse

Katherine Kelly, thirty-five years old, complains that William Wilson disappeared from her ken one month ago after she had promised to marry him and had handed him $350 for a very special purpose.

She did not hear of him again, she Kelly woman says, until a list of Marriage Intentions showed that a license had been asked for by William Wilson Eckles, 38, salesman, of No. 46 St. Stephen street, Back Bay, and Ada Wilson, nurse, of No. 55 Newbury street, Revere.

Upon being informed of the finding of Mrs. Kelly took her hat, coat and umbrella, went straight to the license bureau in City Hall, verified her worst fears and made the complaint which placed Mr. Eckles temporarily at least, behind the bars.

"I begin with," Mrs. checked and well formed Katherine Kelly began her story to the police. "I have a husband in Ireland.

"When I brought these questions up, William swept them aside with a laugh and the wave of a hand. All we needed, he said, was a dispensation from the Church, and that could be arranged for $350. He knew a clergyman in Somerville, he said, who would handle the matter.

"I handed my beloved Eckles the money a month ago and never heard sight or sound from him until I received hope in the station-house.

Ada Wilson, the third side of the love quadrangle, came to Boston from the primitive age from Malton Bay, Lunenberg County, Nova Scotia, and five or three months ago took a room at No. 55 Newbury street, Revere, with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James McConnell.

CHARGES SUITOR TOOK HER CASH TO WED RIVAL

Auto Salesman Is Accused by Woman Who Says He Jilted Her for Nurse

Charged by one young woman with using her savings to prepare for his marriage with another girl, William Wilson Eckles, thirty-eight, a salesman employed on Automobile Row on Commonwealth avenue, is held at the Joy street station pending investigation.

Katherine Kelly, thirty-five years old, complains that William Wilson disappeared from her ken one month ago after she had promised to marry him and had handed him $350 for a very special purpose.

She did not hear of him again, she Kelly woman says, until a list of Marriage Intentions showed that a license had been asked for by William Wilson Eckles, 38, salesman, of No. 46 St. Stephen street, Back Bay, and Ada Wilson, nurse, of No. 55 Newbury street, Revere.

Upon being informed of the finding of Mrs. Kelly took her hat, coat and umbrella, went straight to the license bureau in City Hall, verified her worst fears and made the complaint which placed Mr. Eckles temporarily at least, behind the bars.

"I begin with," Mrs. checked and well formed Katherine Kelly began her story to the police. "I have a husband in Ireland.

"When I brought these questions up, William swept them aside with a laugh and the wave of a hand. All we needed, he said, was a dispensation from the Church, and that could be arranged for $350. He knew a clergyman in Somerville, he said, who would handle the matter.

"I handed my beloved Eckles the money a month ago and never heard sight or sound from him until I received hope in the station-house.

51 SUMMONSED FOR VIOLATING TRAFFIC RULES

Boston Police Do Wholesale Tagging as Drive Starts to Curb Goodwin

It was reported by the police today that fifteen motorists had been summonsed to court within the past twenty-four hours for parking cars in Washington street after 6 p. m. Thursday truck and passenger car drivers have been summonsed for driving north in Albany street after the same time limit.

Meanwhile, a drive is under way to curb the activity of Frank A. Goodwin, receiver of motor vehicles.

If this drive is successful the receiver's authority in future will be reduced to granting car registrations and operating licenses. All other authority will be delegated to the commissioner of public safety and a proposed special commission.

Tomorrow, at the State House, a public hearing on the question will be held by the Governor's Public Safety Committee, when those interested will be afforded opportunity to air their views.

The drive was launched at a meeting of the Public Safety Committee when Thomas W. White of the State Department of Administration and Finance declared that under present conditions with Goodwin acting as prosecutor and judge, the motorist was treated unfairly.

White's contention was supported by J. W. Brennan, representing the police, when he asserted that the present system of appeal from the registrar's decisions was "a farce."

Yesterday the registrar went over the head of another Justice, sought justice in revoking the registration and suspending the license of Walter T. Walsh, an attorney, found guilty in Chelsea court.

New Haven, Ct., April 23 (I.N.S.).—Judge Thomas, in United States District Court today, denied the application of Alael W. J. Bahr of Greenwich and New York to become a citizen of the United States.

The decision was due to the fact that Bahr has Chinese blood in his veins of an amount sufficient to bar him.

HEFLER IS SURE OF HIS WIFE'S FEALTY

Brockton Teacher, Sued for Divorce, Says Son Is in Good Hands

Brockton, April 23.—Stoutly confessing his young wife's suit for divorce on the ground of alleged abandonment, plainly embittered against some of his "in-laws," and fighting for the custody of a 10-year-old son, George B. Hefler, educator of national reputation, declined in the Divorce Court here to say one word against the character of his boy's mother.

The question at which Hefler quailed had to do with his former complaint that Mrs. Hefler, daughter of the principal of one of Brockton's schools and niece of the former Dean Arnold of Simmons College, was too friendly with a Woodstock, Conn., man during their residence there.

His interrogator was his wife's attorney.

"You've changed your mind on that point, haven't you, Mr. Hefler?" asked the lawyer.

"Yes," replied the slender young instructor, "I believe my wife to be not only a good but a pure woman. I did think, at that time, that Mrs. Hefler, and this gentleman were together too much."

"Do you think there was anything Mrs. Hefler from having the custody of little John?"

Hefler is fighting mainly for possession of the boy and the question apparently meant everything.

His eyes fell, and he hesitated a moment. Then, shaking his head, he answered:

"No sir, I do not."

Having said these words, the young father bowed his head and sobbed aloud.

Pale, and so slender that he is almost emaciated in appearance, he presented a pitiable spectacle.

As it appeared unlikely that the man could regain control of himself to a degree that would permit of the continuance of his examination, Judge Chamberlain ordered a suspension of the inquiry.

Mrs. Hefler, testifying in rebuttal, already had told the court that she was never in the company of the Woodstock man except when at least one other person was present.

The wife's principal complaint is that her husband will not hold a good position. He drifts, she says. Married in 1910, he has taught in Rochester, N. H., Melrose, Natick, Iowa, back in New Hampshire, Alaska and Connecticut.

DEPEW TO BEGIN PLAYING GOLF WHEN HE'S 100

Famous Statesman Turns His 90th Milestone and Is Still Going Strong

New York, April 23.—Chauncey M. Depew, statesman, railroad executive and personal friend of presidents since Abraham Lincoln, celebrated his ninetieth birthday today.

In his office at the Grand Central Terminal he had the same infectious laugh, the same magnetism and the same cheering smile and philosophy that has carried him successfully through the storms of politics and the vicissitudes of railroad management.

For fifty-nine years he has been going to his office at 10 o'clock each morning and quitting between 4:30 o'clock and 5 o'clock. He said he would be uncomfortable if he broke this habit of work.

Mr. Depew's philosophic code is simple and direct. He believes every person should have a hobby to insure health, happiness and mental vigor, but he insisted that the hobby should be mental. Part of the philosophy which he said has kept him ninety years young, was:

"In politics don't buck the machine."

"Cultivate your sense of humor."

"Get a mental hobby. A mental hobby is more necessary than a physical one."

"Things that make you unhappy very seldom happen."

Today, as in other years, Mr. Depew received felicitations of his friends at his office and tried to read the piles of telegrams and letters that poured in on him.

And when he is a centenarian he said he will probably take up golf.

FRENCH CONSUL OF NEW YORK WEDS

The Rev. Francisco Argenta, pastor of the French Evangelical Congregational Church of Boston, performed at the residence of French Consul and Mrs. J. C. Joseph Flamand in Cambridge, the ceremony uniting in marriage Andre Auguste Bernard Brouzet and Sara Hubbard Gibbons, both of New York city.

Consul Flamand acted as best man and Mrs. Flamand as matron of honor.

Smart Set Sponsoring Authors' Ball at Capital, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

MRS. LARZ ANDERSON, charming chatelaine of "Weld," is lending her interest to the Authors' Carnival Ball taking place tomorrow night in Washington, where the Andersons generally spend several months of the year.

The affair, which will draw not a few fashionables to the Wardman Park Hotel, promises to be one of the most picturesque dancing events of the capital's very gay season.

Mrs. Larz Anderson. (Photo by Marceau)

Also sponsoring the costume ball are Princess Cantacuzene Speransckey (Julia Grant) and Princess Antoine Ribesco, who, like Mrs. Anderson, are notable figures in the literary as well as social world.

Throughout the preparations Prince Michael Cantacuzene, Jr., claimed blonde-haired Miss Clarissa Curtis for his bride, the senior Prince and Princess came on to Boston for the occasion and Boston's fashionable world had an opportunity to meet the author-princess.

It will not be long probably, before Mr. and Mrs. Anderson—the former has been enjoying his annual sojourn at White Sulphur Springs—return to their beloved "Weld," as their Brookline estate is called. Later on in the season the former Ambassador to Japan and his charming wife will spend not a little time on board their attractive houseboat, the "Roxanna," which they often anchor in Marblehead waters.

Mrs. Anderson, by the way, is on the board of directors of the Army and Navy Club, which is now carrying on its annual drive for funds and memberships. In connection with the club's campaign, a rummage sale is being held today at the Trinity Church parish hall from 9:30 until 8, the proceeds to help carry on its splendid work among service men and disabled veterans.

Mrs. Albert Burrage (White World Photo)

ALONG the North Shore there is interest in the news that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Burrage, Jr., have purchased "Candlewood Farm," the Ipswich estate of Herbert W. Mason.

In former years Mr. and Mrs. Burrage have made their home at Hamilton, where they have been active members of the sport-loving set. They plan to make their year-round home at "Candlewood Farm," where they are already domiciled.

The estate includes some eighty-seven acres, including garden, woodland, tennis courts and stables.

ITALY TO TRANSPORT DUSE'S BODY HOME

Rome, April 23.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, many of whose plays were interpreted by Eleonora Duse, telegraphed Premier Mussolini: "The tragic destiny of Duse could not have been fulfilled in a more tragic manner. Far from Italy the most Italian of hearts has been stilled. I beg that the beloved remains be brought to Italy at the expense of the State. I am certain that my grief today is shared by all Italians."

The Premier replied: "The fate of Duse, whom a year ago I offered a pension, has affected me grievously. Immediately I telegraphed Ambassador Gaetani to proceed forthwith to Pittsburgh and, on behalf of the Italian government, make the necessary arrangements to bring the body to Italy at the cost of the state."

EX-MAYOR OF EVERETT CORCORAN COUNSEL

Attorney William E. Weeks, former Mayor of Everett, who acted as counsel for Theodore Bearse in the so-called Middlesex County blackmail cases, has entered his appearance as counsel for William J. Corcoran and Theresa Duggan, as a result of the filing of Attorney Joseph P. Walsh.

Corcoran and Mrs. Duggan, with J. Warren Kaley, are to come in for sentence on Friday, when motions for a new trial will also be heard.

WANTED CAR PAINTER AFTER BAUER MURDER

New York, April 23.—Another witness said to have been coached by Harry Hoffman prior to his arrest broke down and testified against the man held in connection with the murder of Mrs. Maude Bauer on Staten Island, police announced. Harry Edkins, seventeen years old, employed as a "reel boy" at the Palace Theatre, where Hoffman worked, told the Grand Jury Hoffman had asked him to get someone to paint Hoffman's automobile the day after the murder.

'ALL WOOL' TEAM IS FETED AT HOTEL

"Sallies of the Alleys" were distributed with a lavish hand last night at a banquet in the United States Hotel, arranged by employes of Raymond's to fete the champion "All Wool" team in the Raymond Bowling Club tournament.

The occasion was turned into a laughing night by the attendants of the "raspberracks," the "union-strained suiter" and the "appendix," now by-words in Boston, and speeches on other serious business were barred.

Prizes were awarded to the "All Wool" team through the contributions of F. J. Doyle, president of the Raymond Syndicate. Captain John Buckley was absent, however, a matter of a honeymoon engaging his attention. He was married several days ago.

Other prizes were awarded to Captain Goodwin, of the "Alpenrix" team and Captain Corcoran of the "Gas Pipes," who, with Buckley, ran up highest scores in the league.

Officials, salesmen, clerks and other designations of Raymond employes attended the dinner. The entertainment was decidedly impromptu. Those who could sing, sang. Those who could not, sang also.

The dinner and jollification were arranged by a committee headed by Charles Hall, president of the Bowling Club. On the committee with him were James J. Donovan, "Doc" Hurd and "Art" Spaulding.

BROTHER AND SISTER IN DOUBLE WEDDING

Lawrence, April 23.—St. Augustine's Episcopal Church here was the scene of an unusual double wedding when Miss Doris Jones, old William Jones, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jones of Hoyt road street, were married, respectively, to William T. Dixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dixon, of Tyngsboro, and Ralph Whitworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Whitworth of Osgood street, this city.

SON OF EX-PREMIER WOUNDED IN DUEL

Naples, April 23.—A duel with swords was fought here between Vincenzo Nitti, son of former Premier Nitti, and Giulio Francesconi, in which Nitti was painfully wounded in the right arm.

The duel was the outgrowth of an article published by Francesconi in the Fascisti newspaper, Mezzo Giorno, which Nitti considered an insult to his father.

CHURCH DROPS MILLIONAIRE AS VESTRYMAN

Sayre, Who Adopted Boy Accused of Slaying, Fails of Re-election

New York, April 23.—Monell Sayre, millionaire foster-father of Francis Kluxen, 3d, the lad who was tried and acquitted three years ago of the murder of little Janette Lawrence, has completed a three-year term as vestryman at Grace Episcopal Church at Madison, N. J.

A meeting of the congregation failed to re-elect him, choosing Arthur Herrington in his place.

Behind the rejection of Monell Sayre lies a strange story of hate, which began when the jury before which Francis, then only fourteen, was tried brought in a verdict of not guilty. The entire community kindled with indignation over the acquittal.

Mr. Sayre, a bachelor, convinced Francis was being wronged, arranged to adopt him. Then the community turned against him and he was ostracised as the lad had been.

Shortly before last Christmas Mr. Sayre brought Francis to Grace Church with him one Sunday morning. The congregation fumed. The Rev. Victor W. Mori, rector, wrote to Bishop Coadjutor Starley in Newark, asking what to do. A meeting of the vestry was called, and one of Mr. Sayre's associates said that if Francis put foot in the church again he would throw him out. Mr. Sayre declined to listen to threats or pleas.

Mr. Sayre was quite mild.

"I was baptized in Grace Church and my father's funeral was held there," he said. "So I shall continue as a member of the church in spite of this."

BLIND LAW STUDENT LEADS HIS CLASS

Chicago, April 23.—A boy who never saw a book has passed examination for admittance to the Illinois bar and will graduate at the head of his class in Northwestern University in June. He is George Henry Weinmann, blind from birth. He will apply for a place in a law office.

His mother, Mrs. Frank Weinmann, has been his eyes since he started in grade school. Night after night she read to her son his text books and his legal documents, while he braided the cases. He took his notes in Braille on a "slate and stylus" device, then transcribed them on the typewriter.

JAIL AND FINE FOR 5 AUTO VIOLATIONS

George Oulette of Austin street, Cambridge, whose automobile license was revoked, according to police, after he was twice arrested for violation of the automobile laws, was before Judge Connelly in Brighton Court today on five charges.

He was fined $5 for drunkenness, sentenced to one month for driving while drunk, given ten days in the house of correction for driving after his license had been revoked, and fined $5 for driving without registration. A charge of driving without a license was placed on file. Oulette appealed.

Boy With $20 Makes 140 Miles in Three Hours

Lawrence, April 23.—A trifle dazed, thirteen-year-old Frank Nocera of No. 164 Lowell street, was on his way back to Lawrence from Springfield today.

A twenty-dollar bill shoved young Frank into hot water and put him under the heavy thumb of the law. But if Frank was dazed at the sudden descent of justice, the Lawrence police wondered even more at the boy's speed in reaching Springfield and being arrested—all within three hours after he decamped.

Yesterday James Dugan, proprietor of the Dugan Press, No. 362 Essex street, asked the boy to do an errand. Frank was given a twenty-dollar bill. He never came back. That was after 1 o'clock.

At 4:35 he was under arrest in Springfield. Why the police here do not know. But they sent for him on notification from Springfield.

JILTS FIANCE TO MARRY HER SISTER

New Bedford, April 23.—John M. Fernandez, No. 7 Edward street, after being engaged for five months to Miss Frances Oliviera, 21, of No. 35 Sidney street, has now taken out marriage intentions to marry Miss Elvira Oliviera, 19, a younger sister, and will marry her at the office of the city clerk Saturday when the time limit expires.

In the meantime Fernandes admits that the girl is in hiding so that her relatives cannot find her.

GIRL, TIRED OF LIFE, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Brockton, April 23.—Soon after she told her sister-in-law that she was tired of living and wanted to die, Miss Filomena Narducci, seventeen, an attractive brunette, attempted to take her life by swallowing the contents of a four-ounce bottle of poison in her home at No. 44 Hayward street, this afternoon. She will recover.

ARMY BALLOON, LOST ON WAY TO RACE, RETURNS

TC-3, Bound for Meet at San Antonio, Shows Up Safe at Scott Field, Ill.

Belleville, Ill., April 23.—The United States Army non-rigid dirigible TC-3, which left here yesterday in a flight to San Antonio, Tex., arrived at Scott Field shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning. Inquiries had been sent to all dispatchers along the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway asking their aid in locating the dirigible after it had failed to reach San Antonio, Tex.

The TC-3 was forced to return because of a severe electrical storm in northern Texas. The big ship was undamaged, but will not attempt another flight to San Antonio at this time. She carried six men.

San Antonio, Tex., April 23.—Seven pilots and their seven aides completed preparations today for the start this afternoon in the national balloon elimination race at Kelly Field, except to inflate the great gas bags.

This work will not be started until only a few hours before the race and will be in charge of Lieutenant Frank Kehoe, hydrogen expert of the United States Army.

The use of natural gas at Kelly Field makes it possible to inflate the bags in a short time and because of this, Lieutenant Kehoe predicted that new American and possibly world records would be broken.

Favorable weather conditions were predicted and the first balloon was scheduled to take the air at 4:30 p. m. The course was expected to be northeast. To break the world's record of 1,896 miles, the winner must travel as far as Bangor, Me.

"COTTONS, Ancient and Modern"

On the Street Floor of the Hovey Store, Just Inside the Avon Street Entrance

THIS EXHIBITION, arranged by the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, is particularly interesting to Bostonians—it not only traces the history and exhibits the products of the cotton industry from the days of ancient civilization to our day, but marks the progress New England mills have made in the production of finer and more beautiful cotton goods.

The collection, valued at thousands of dollars, not only contains rare examples of ancient products of the loom, but illustrates some of the processes of both ancient and modern manufacture.

There are beautiful cloths here from almost every corner of the earth. You will want to see —the Indian tie-dyed sari (a long scarf), showing the process of tie-dyeing.

—the Javanese Batik work
—the temple-hanging from India
—the theatre-curtain from Ceylon
—the feather blouse from the San Blas Indians

—and these are but a scattering few of the large collection of interesting exhibits.

Students of history and of fashion will be particularly interested in the still-life mannikins of such famous women as Dolly Madison, Mrs. John Jay, Nellie Custis, Mary Brinton, Jenny Lind, Louisa Alcott, Mrs. Grover Cleveland, and other—even a typical "Quaker lady" of New Bedford—all dressed in the fashion of their time.

TAKEN IN NEW YORK RAID

Brought to Lynn, Where Court Proceedings Bore Her Exceedingly

While more than a score of residents of Essex County are suffering from nervous chills with the thought that the automobiles they purchased from a bobbed-hair beauty may have been stolen, Sara Levesque, the young woman, acts terribly bored, at Lynn police station.

The young woman who is charged with being the head of one of the cleverest band of auto thieves in the country, could scarcely stifle her yawns when she was arraigned in Lynn Court, to-day.

While her attorneys, William Schell of Boston, and J. Frank Williams of Lynn were asking Judge Ralph W. Reeve to continue the case for a week, Sara, who is also known under the names of Duffy and Butler, paid not the slightest attention.

"NOT CONVICTED YET."

"Have they taken your photograph for the rogues' gallery yet?" asked a reporter who slipped into a chair near the woman.

"Do you know any more funny jokes?" the woman countered.

"Don't forget I'm not convicted yet and they won't take any pictures till I am," she snapped.

"That conviction isn't in the bag, either, and isn't going to get there," she added as an after thought.

The woman was arrested in a raid in New York conducted by New York and Lynn police. Two brothers were held on narcotic charges. Another brother who was taken is wanted in New Bedford, where a girl preferred a serious charge against him.

CLEVER RUSE IN NEW YORK.

The Lynn and New York police admit that the woman, her brothers and two sisters are very clever; so clever, in fact, that the woman came near escaping extradition.

The two sisters, each wearing Sara's garments, appeared in New York court when the extradition cases came up.

Harold Ward of Lynn, one of the prosecuting witnesses, became confused and came near identifying one of the sisters as the woman wanted. The New York district attorney's office spiked the play, however and the girl was ordered back to Lynn.

The police claim that the ranch, of which Sara is alleged to be the head, stole cars on a wholesale scale.

The woman, who is about twenty-six years of age, formerly lived at Plainville. Her case has been postponed for a week and bail has been fixed at $2,000, which she hopes to secure before night.

BARES SHOULDER TO JURY IN DAMAGE SUIT

MISS ESTHER L. WING AND DOG

Newton society girl bared her arm and shoulder to the jury to show where she had been bitten by one of the Eskimo dogs in Arthur T. Walden's race winning team. She was awarded $1,000 damages. Inset shows the dog.

GIVES VERDICT TO GIRL FOR DOG BITE

Miss Esther L. Wing, a Newton society girl, won a verdict of $1,000 for a dog bite.

She was given the award after she bared her arm and shoulder to a United States Court jury in the Federal Building to show the scars of a bite she claims was inflicted by one of the Eskimo "huskies" of Arthur T. Walden's winning international dog sweepstakes team at Intervale, N. H., in 1922.

Miss Wing, who is twenty years old, attended the race with twenty-five girls from the Garland School, Chestnut street. She sued Walden for $4,000.

The defence contended that Miss Wing wore high-heeled shoes, slipped on the ice and that when she fell the dog became alarmed and bit her. Walden, the defendant, is a dealer of Eskimo dogs at Woodsmere, N. H.

The jury was out an hour. Judge Brewster heard the case.

Miss Wing was represented by Attorney John J. Burns of Waltham. Isaac J. Rich of Boston was attorney for Walden.

Miss Wing is the daughter of Frank C. Wing, No. 110 Waban Hill road, Newton.

Miss Wing testified that the Eskimo jumped on her just after she had her photograph taken with her school friends at Intervale. The famous dog team had been drawn up in front of the girls.

The wound on Miss Wing's arm required twenty stitches, she testified.

MYSTERY NOTE AT WHEELER HEARING

Supposed to Have Been Written to Him in Regard to Montana Land Permits

Washington, April 23.—A hint of a mysterious letter about land permits said to have been written by Solicitor Booth of the Interior Department to Senator Burton K. Wheeler's Montana law firm was heard today by the Senate committee investigating Wheeler's indictment on a charge of accepting money for appearing before the department in land matters.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota, a Republican member of the committee, said he had been told of such a letter and expected to produce it before the investigation was ended.

He declined to reveal the source of his information or say who prepared a memorandum, with the aid of which he was cross-questioning L. V. Beaulieu, a Western attorney, who said he also had "heard of" such a letter.

Beaulieu, the only witness at today's hearing, testified he has been chief counsel for Gordon Campbell, the Montana oil man indicted with Senator Wheeler, but never heard of the senator's acting for Campbell in land cases.

STRONG LANGUAGE.

On the contrary, he said, Wheeler had told him he declined specifically to have anything to do with any of Campbell's litigation except in the Montana State courts.

Wheeler told him in strong Western language, Beaulieu said, that he knew nothing about government permits and had told Campbell he would handle only State court cases. He denied any knowledge that Wheeler performed, agreed to perform, or been paid for any legal service to Campbell in connection with any Federal question.

"When I asked Mr. Wheeler about a law case regarding a certain permit," the witness said, "he was very positive. He said, 'I don't know a thing about government permits. I told Campbell I would have nothing to do with government permits, that I would appear for him only in the courts out here.'"

MYSTERY LETTER.

"Have you any knowledge of Senator Wheeler representing Mr. Campbell in any land permits?" asked Chairman Borah.

"No, sir. I have no such knowledge."

"Didn't you hear that Mr. Campbell put his employes to obtain land permits from the government?" Senator Sterling asked.

Beaulieu replied there was only one permit, and that Mr. Stevenson, a former partner of Campbell, attacked its validity.

Senator Sterling then asked Beaulieu what he knew about a letter from Solicitor Booth of the Interior Department, to the firm of Wheeler & Dibblain, dealing with nine claims in which Campbell was interested.

BORAH DEMANDS IT.

Chairman Borah demanded that Senator Sterling produce such a letter if he had it. It developed that Senator Sterling was reading from a memorandum, but he declined to say who had furnished it to him.

Beaulieu finally said he had "heard of" a letter of some sort.

"If you have that letter you should produce it," insisted Senator Borah.

"I haven't the letter now," Senator Sterling replied. "But I expect to produce it during the course of the proceedings. I haven't seen any such letter. I have a memorandum reminding me of such a letter."

Havana, April 23 (AP).—Thirty thousand union workers, including 23,000 cigar and cigarette makers, are idle in Havana. They are supporting the striking dock workers.

The Italian train had on board some French and English passengers in addition to 45 Germans and 52 Italians.

LOST BOY SCOUT FOUND IN BLUE HILLS

When George M. Smith, noted Appalachian mountain climber, went scouting in the Blue Hills in search of George Q. Hill, Jr., missing since Saturday, he stumbled upon the fifteen-year-old youth curled snugly up in a hand-constructed lean-to.

Explanations followed, and it appears that young George left his home with no thoughts of wandering, but merely to spend a few days in the "great open spaces." Little did he realize that a sorrowing family bewailed his disappearance at his home at No. 9 Littell road, Brookline.

GIRL IS HELD IN LYNN AUTO THEFTS

Twenty or more residents of Essex County who in the past two years have unsuspectingly bought stolen automobiles from a young woman have been invited to call at Lynn Police Headquarters to see if they can identify Sara Levesque, as the saleswoman.

Twenty five years old and with her black hair bobbed the Levesque woman was brought to Lynn from New York City, after unsuccessfully fighting extradition.

She is specifically charged by the police with having sold in Lynn the motor car alleged to have been stolen from Charles E. Deakin, of Worcester, by Frederick Montgomery, now imprisoned at Chandon, R. I., on many similar complaints.

POSTPONE TRIAL OF PATROLMEN IN CLUB CASE

Charges Against Officers Accused of Visiting Forbidden Society Collapse

Trial of six Boston patrolmen, five from the Dudley street station and one from the East Dedham street station, charged with being present at the Phalanx Orchestra Club, Roxbury, after an order forbidding their visiting the club had been read, has been indefinitely postponed.

The men were supposed to go on trial before a board of police commissioners today. The six patrolmen are Harvey Yates of East Dedham street station, and Thomas Keaney, Frederick Mayo, Richard Keene and Arthur Pyburn of Dudley street station.

It is now revealed that Yates went to the club on instructions of Captain Driscoll of the East Dedham street station to secure information regarding two men who were raided in the Philadelphia minute. As a result of his visits to the club it is reported that one of the men had been apprehended.

It is also understood that the other five patrolmen did not appear at the club following the reading of the order.

EX-PREMIER OF NEWFOUNDLAND IS ARRESTED

Theft of $20,000 Is Charged; Three Others Are Held

St. John's, N. F., April 23.—Sir Richard Squires, former Premier of Newfoundland, is under arrest, charged with farming graft.

The charge was based on the findings of a commission which recently investigated alleged irregularities under the Squires government, which resigned last July.

The Defender Campbell, who was Minister of Agriculture in the Squires cabinet, also was arrested on similar charges, as were John Middleton, former government liquor controller, and Whitford McNeilly, formerly a clerk in the Crown Lands office. All were admitted to bail. Further arrests are probable, officials said.

The specific charge against Sir Richard Squires was larceny of $20,000 of government funds. Campbell was charged with larceny of $400. Meaney with theft of $10,000, and McNeilly with larceny of $30,000.

The former Premier, Meaney and McNeilly were admitted to bail in $10,000 each, while bail in the case of the former Minister of Agriculture was set at $4,000.

PINCHOT GETS HARD BEATING AT POLLS

Philadelphia, April 23.—Ralph Beaver Strassburger, wealthy Norristown publisher, running against Governor Gifford Pinchot in yesterday's primary for delegate-at-large in the Republican national convention, had a lead of nearly 200,000 votes in less than half the election districts of the State.

The city of Philadelphia alone returned a majority for Strassburger of 180,107, the vote in the city's 1462 districts being: Strassburger, 224,529; Pinchot, 94,213.

"The vote does not represent the conscience and heart of Pennsylvania," said Governor Pinchot in Harrisburg as Strassburger's lead piled up.

LINERS HARD HIT BY IMMIGRATION BILL

Moscow, April 23.—If the present immigration bill before the American Congress, restricting Russia's quota to 2,000 annually, becomes a law, a number of British steamship companies will be forced to abandon their business here. The largest of these are the White Star and Canadian Pacific companies. Last year they shipped many thousands of Russian refugees and Russian emigrants to the United States, while they now have on their waiting lists several thousand more, brought from the interior in the belief that the immigration bill would be defeated. The companies are faced, in the event of the bill's passage, with the task of returning these emigrants to their homes at great expense.

DISPLAYS STARS AND STRIPES, IS ARRESTED

Havana, April 23.—Aaron Kerbaky, a merchant of American extraction, was taken into custody in Nuevo Gerona, Isle of Pines, last Saturday for displaying a large American flag. Published reports said Kerbaky and some other Americans unrolled the flag in the street in order that American aviators flying over the Isle of Pines might see it. It is against Cuban law to display a foreign flag without displaying a Cuban flag at the same time.

New Kind of Girdle Reduces Waist and Hips
—almost while you wait!

JUST think! An entirely new scientific girdle that slenderizes your figure and gives you the slim, straight, fashionable lines you want—almost the very moment you put it on! That makes you look thin while actually getting thin!

The Madame X Reducing Girdle, as it is called, is built on scientific massage principles that cause reductions of 5, 10, 20 pounds in an astonishingly short time. For it is made of the highest grade, most resilient Para rubber, especially designed for reducing purposes, and strong enough to really hold you in. It is so constructed that it touches and gently massages every portion of the surface continually. And the constant massage causes a more vigorous circulation of the blood, which also helps bring about a marked reduction in weight.

The girdle fits as smoothly and snugly as a kid glove, and is so soft and pliant that while it holds the whole body firmly, it nevertheless gives you a delightful supple, graceful figure and the utmost freedom of motion. And best of all, it reduces you right where you particularly want the fat to be taken off. Women usually lose 1 to 3 inches the very first week! It does away forever with wearing exercises, starving diets, harmful drugs and lotions and useless self-denials. It is the one safe, quick, comfortable, absolutely certain way to reduce!

Worn In Place of Corset

The Madame X Reducing Girdle is worn over the undergarment—it is not necessary to wear it next the skin—and in the most efficient, comfortable way imaginable, takes the place of stiff, heavy-boned corsets. Except for one light, supple steel in front, there are no bones whatever to "ride up" and stick into you, or to cut into you over the hip bones. Though it gives you much greater freedom than the most ingeniously constructed corset, it offers you even better support to the muscles of back and sides and prevents fatigue. The garters help hold it in place, and the lacing permits of easy adjustment. The girdle will not shove the bust up, but lengthens the waistline and holds the figure erect and graceful.

Instantly makes you look more slender. Notice how it encircles the thighs and hips as well as the abdomen, and what wonderful support it gives the muscles of back and sides—right where you need it. The patented cutaway front insures perfect comfort while you sit, work or play. And the special back lacing makes it easy to adjust as you become more slender.

In grey, 9.85
In pink, 11.85

Once you have worn the Madame X Reducing Girdle, you will never be able to endure the tortures of a corset again. But you won't need to! The girdle reduces your figure quickly to the fashionable slender, graceful lines you want and keeps it that way! It is wonderfully comfortable and you'll find yourself using it as you never could a corset—for walking, riding, golf—even for swimming—any time you want adequate support against fatigue, and a slim, charming figure. It is remarkably well durable. Women everywhere are enthusiastic about it—Can't say enough in its praise.

You can't appreciate this wonderful girdle, however, until you have seen it, tried it on. We will be glad to give you a free demonstration any time in our corset store—Third Floor.

BRIDE, AGED 70, DISILLUSIONED IN 2 WEEKS

Wed Man 24 Years Her Junior; Asks Divorce Now and Her Maiden Name

Susan J. Williams, once active in Boston social welfare work, sat in Probate Court today looking more than her seventy years as she unfolded a tearful story to Judge Dolan of her marriage to a man twenty-four years her junior.

Mrs. Williams repeatedly choked back sobs as she witnessed a recital of the events which led to disillusionment.

She met George Williams, she said, shortly after her former husband had died and while she was engaged in welfare work at the Massachusetts Memorial. That was in 1921.

Williams was then fifty-three. Mrs. Williams was sixty-seven. Seven weeks later they married.

"I didn't know if he had any money or not," said Mrs. Williams today, "but I supposed him capable of earning one dollar. He looked even younger than his years."

QUIT WORKING.

Less than two weeks after the wedding, Williams quit working. "I had $400 left after burying my first husband," she said. "George suggested we buy a little store. We did so but could make no money. Then I suggested he go to work and I run the store. He refused."

The store was sold and another one purchased. There Williams sold the second store and is now conducting a lunchroom.

"Also he contributed anything to our support?" asked Judge Dolan.

"Not one cent," sobbed Mrs. Williams. "I have been forced to go back to work. He took every cent I had."

Martin Kane of No. 16 James street, Boston, with whom the couple lived the first three weeks of their married life, said Williams paid the rent the first two weeks and his wife the third week.

MARRIED FOR MONEY.

Sometime later Mrs. Kane met Williams on the street and inquired after his wife.

"I think I put my foot in it there," Williams is alleged to have answered. "She hasn't as much money as I thought and what she has is hard to get out of her."

Mrs. Kane berated Williams for his speech and he remarked "What do you think I married that old woman for if not for her money. She's crazy, anyway. She goes around with poison in her pocketbook."

Mrs. Martha C. Martin, a friend, corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Williams, who asks she be allowed to follow her former name of Susan J. Fowle.

MAN ARRESTED AFTER CHASE OF TWO MILES

Alleged Wife Deserter Caught With 16-Year-Old Girl in Claremont, N. H.

Fitchburg, April 23.—Leslie Kimball, thirty-three years old, was captured by Chief of Police Fred Damon of Ashby after an exciting chase on foot, which led over two miles of woods and over stone walls.

Chief Damon held a warrant for Kimball charging non-support of his wife, Mary, fifty years of age, whom Kimball is alleged to have deserted in Claremont, N. H., posing the police charge, as man and wife.

The warrant for Kimball's arrest was issued from the Ayer District Court. It was given to Chief Damon to serve.

LEAPS OUT WINDOW.

The chief received a tip that Kimball was at a house on the Ashby road. He went there. Kimball saw the chief approaching the house. He leaped from a window and ran for the woods.

Kimball, however, proved no match for the fleet-footed chief of police. He was captured after a two-mile run and locked up at Fitchburg police station, there being no lockup in Ashby.

ly. We had something to eat. I scarcely noticed this Robinson man.

"As we left the restaurant, Robinson left also. Outside, he and my escort had some words and then the shooting occurred. I don't know where my friend lives or anything about him."

When Robinson was questioned at the hospital later in the day, he at first insisted his home was in Cleveland.

Finally he admitted that he is employed as a salesman for a linoleum manufacturer and that he has a room on Idlewild street. He said his wife is in Cleveland.

He said he knew of no reason why the unknown man should have attacked him.

Police learned the gunman, after eluding his pursuer, went to Union square, where he took a taxicab for both Boston. Police are searching for him in that district.

BOBBED BANDIT PLEADS GUILTY TO HOLDUPS

Refuses to Have Lawyers Defend Her; Husband Takes the Same Stand

his wife had a mild delusion, temporary mental derangement due to motherhood.

Judge George W. Martin waved the lawyers aside when the girl would have none of them and accepted the pleas, recalling the speedy justice that has made Jersey famous.

The pleas of guilty were made to the supreme charge of holding up a chain grocery in Brooklyn on the night of February 23. They took $250 from the cash register.

Two other indictments for robbery are pending against them. In addition, Cooney faced a charge of assault for the shooting of Nathan Mazzo in the attempted hold-up of the National Biscuit Company in Brooklyn, February 23.

Thirteen persons today identified Mrs. Cooney as Brooklyn's fabled lady bandit.

IDENTIFIED BY VICTIMS.

Refreshed from a night's sleep after the trip from Jacksonville, Fla., where she and her husband were arrested, the bandit girl faced the police line-up in Brooklyn headquarters.

Fifty masked detectives stood guard in the reception room, while the victims filed past and viewed the bobbed hair girl and her "tall companion."

It was more like a reception than the usual police line-up. The Cooneys took it good naturedly. They made the identification mutual, some times correcting the victims as to the amount of their losses and adding details to their accounts of their experience with the bandit girl.

Miss Helen Fogarty, clerk at the National Biscuit Company warehouse in Brooklyn, the last party visited by the Cooneys before their flight South, nearly fainted when she saw Mrs. Cooney.

AIDS THEIR MEMORIES

"Yes—yes—yes—that's the girl," she cried, and would have fallen to the floor if a detective had not supported her. She was carried from the room and a physician revived her.

One robbery at least attributed to the Cooneys apparently was committed by some of their many imitators. Richard Hink, proprietor of a grocery, failed to identify them as the man and woman who robbed him of $250 on January 12.

The bandit girl smiled continuously as she inspected the holdup victims. Some seemed doubtful, and she recalled details and incidents that enabled them to make positive identification.

Scarcely had the boxers advanced to the middle of the ring when Picardy, who is regarded as a fight puncher, sent Molinari to the mat with a punch to the jaw. Molinari got to his feet slowly and apparently with some difficulty.

A second later Picardy landed again on Molinari's jaw. This time the fighter went crashing to the floor. He fell so hard that his head struck the canvas.

Molinari was regarded as one of the most promising young amateur boxers entered in the tournament. He had appeared once before in an amateur bout. He was also champion wrestler in his class at the Boston Y. M. C. A.

The figures show that in the last six months of the year banditry increased, while crimes against the State decreased.

WOMAN SUES FOR DEATH OF HUSBAND

Charges Forced Trip, Lightly Clad, in Patrol Wagon Brought on Pneumonia

Worcester, April 23.—Joseph A. Marie, of No. 45 Mason street, and Patrolman John J. Powers were sued for $10,000 in Superior Court by Emma Little, administratrix of the estate of her husband, James F. Little.

The plaintiff asserts that on the night of March 23 she and her son were coming from their home when they were arrested by Mayo. Mrs. Little says she cried out, as did also her son. Her husband, according to the allegations, came from the house in his stocking feet, whereupon Patrolman Powers arrested him and sent him to the police station in the patrol wagon, although he was but lightly clad. As a result Little contracted pneumonia and died a few days later, the plaintiff charges.

Mrs. Little declares her son was arrested on the complaint of Marie on a charge of assault, but that in fact Roderic Chase as said his father was discharged.

HUBBY STOLEN BY 'SHEIK,' IS BELIEF OF WOMAN IN MELROSE

BOY WAITS DADDY'S RETURN

Melrose Lad Yearns for Father Believed Gone With Olive-Skinned Friend

Mrs. Harry A. Speakman of Forest street, Melrose Highlands, believes her husband has been stolen by a "sheik."

Little Russell Speakman, five years old, doesn't know the difference between a sheik and a mollycoddle, but he wants his Daddy back, and he asks for him morning, noon and night, and every fifteen minutes in-between.

Speakman, member of an old Southern family, formerly in the Navy, bought a new flaring walk, tuck his sailor's togs into a hat and vanished while his wife and boy were away from home.

BOTH QUIT JOBS.

"I blame the fellow I call the Sheik," says Mrs. Speakman, "who was employed with Harry in the same carriage factory in Wakefield.

"They both quit their jobs together on the same day.

"They were always together, except when Harry was at home, and sometimes the Sheik came here with him.

"Harry was continually telling me how much better the opportunities for a young man are in South America.

"When I asked him how he knew, he quoted this chum of his.

"For nearly two weeks I got South America for breakfast and dinner.

"And yet I have the strongest sort of feeling that, wherever the other chap may be, my husband is in New York City. His father, who resides in Washington, has heard nothing from him since Harry left Melrose.

WIFE IN WAIT.

"We have been married eight years and until the Sheik appeared on the scene were at least as happy as the average young couple.

"Then, everything changed. The Sheik is one of those olive-skinned, dark-eyed chaps who try to dominate other folks.

"I pray that there may be some way to bring our plight to the serious attention of my husband. I know he would not want his boy to suffer, and to tell the truth, there are only a day or two from really serious want.

"Do you know where my Daddy is?" young Russell Speakman asked the reporter. "When is Daddy coming home? I want him."

200 MOVED SAFELY IN HOSPITAL FIRE

New York, April 23.—Two hundred patients were moved without mishap today from a wing of St. Mary's Hospital, Brooklyn, when fire broke out under the roof.

Fifty nurses and orderlies assisted the patients from the top floor. When streams of water flooded the stairways, the entire wing of the building was cleared and the patients moved to another part of the hospital. One hospital attendant, a man, was overcome by smoke.

FILIPINOS PARADE IN WOOD PROTEST

SENATORS FLAY FRENCH PLAN TO SETTLE DEBT

Berlin, April 23 (I.N.S.).—Foreign Secretary Stresemann's mouthpiece, Zeit, stated today that 100,000,000 gold marks have been pledged to a German loan in America and a 300,000,000 gold marks in England.

Washington, April 23.—Administration officials and congressional leaders today threw cold water over semi-official suggestions from France that Germany be compelled to pay the $4,000,000,000 French war debt to the United States in connection with the reparations settlement.

Such a proposal was regarded as inimical to speedy and amicable settlement of the debt problems and as unjustice upon Germany at a time when London that might result in the absolute economic collapse of the Reich.

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah used emphatic language in dismissing the suggestion and added that the United States "should not coerce nations into debt settlements."

The United States would not, in my opinion, make the condition of a settlement of France's debt to this country the payment by Germany of its obligation to France, said Senator King, Democrat, of Utah.

"Each country should pay its own debts and not try to avoid payment by shoving the burdens upon another," commented Senator Lodge, Republican, North Dakota, one of the progressive leaders.

"When such an article appears in the French press it means that the French leaders are trying to line out the rest of the world," said Senator Owen of Oklahoma. "I say now that the people who have been taxed for billions to extinguish the conflagration started by Poincare and Isvolsky, as I demonstrated in a speech on December 15 by producing secret dispatches from Paris and St. Petersburg, will not voluntarily increase the debts incurred by Poincare."

CHARGE BOYCOTT IN MUSCLE SHOALS ROW

Washington, April 23.—Appearing as a representative of the Tennessee Manufacturers Association, H. H. Williams, of Tullahoma, Tenn., today urged the Senate agriculture committee not to award Muscle Shoals to any private enterprise unless the contract recognized the control of the Federal Water Power Act, assured the completion of Dam number 3, the distribution of power to adjoining states, the manufacture of fertilizer in time of peace and millions of tons of coal.

Chairman Norris said he had been informed that some merchants in the vicinity of Muscle Shoals were boycotting manufacturers who did not favor Henry Ford's offer. Williams said he had heard of a flour manufacturer being boycotted and threats had been made against his concern.

DAWES REPORT AIDS EUROPE, SAYS HARDING

Faith in Finding and Will to Work Stabilizing Continent, Banker Declares

Governor W. P. G. Harding of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston has returned from a six weeks' trip to Europe.

He says: "From Bologne to Budapest I found conditions such as to inspire real confidence in Europe's recovery. It was expressed chiefly in two fundamental things—the progress of agriculture and the almost universal will to work among the various peoples. Given that broad economic base financial and political outcomes are usually satisfactory.

"On that foundation and the common faith displayed in Europe in success of the Dawes report are based the strong indications for settlement of Europe's major troubles, particularly fiscal.

"The rapid all-around acceptance of the Dawes findings as furnishing a scientific working basis that is both fair and flexible, emphasized this attitude. In fact, the prompt German acceptance in principle was about the only thing that somewhat worried some of the French, as perhaps suggesting some concealed pitfall.

FAITH IN FRANC

"France on the physical side has worked out very efficiently and almost completely its reconstruction problem.

"France never lost faith in the franc even at its lowest levels, as the billions have amazed me. The rise from 2½ to 4½ cents was taken as proving that confidence and the potency of the Morgan credit.

"A good deal depends on the outcome of the French elections May 11, not only for France, but for Europe generally. A Poincare triumph, as generally expected, would mean a continuance of recovery and fiscal negotiations.

"In Italy as I indirectly learned, there are now signs of a revulsion of feeling with a new spirit of determination and a complete dominance by the Mussolini regime.

COMMENDS AUSTRIA

"Austria is working out its destiny loyally under the League and Dr. Zimmermann.

"Hungary, whose consideration of myself as fiscal administrator I felt obliged to decline, is still not free from political conflict and so presents their special problems. Yet go there and receive considerable financial attention—as they are setting earnestly the League program of reconstruction with much restriction of fiscal authority as it depends."

McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets Are What's Needed

If she only knew that she could put on at least 5 pounds of good healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face and run-down looks.

She has tried Cod Liver Oil, but the ill-smelling, fishy tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamines that put on flesh, create appetite, build up the power to resist disease and chase away nervousness.

But it's horrible tasting stuff and every day fewer people are taking it for doctors are prescribing and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which Liggett's and druggists all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It's a wonderful upbuilding medicine for children, especially after sickness, and sixty tablets only cost 60 cents.

One woman gained 10 pounds in 22 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 5 pounds in 30 days, your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

ACTION NEEDED, DECLARES FORBES

Financial Expert of Hearst Papers Sounds Warning to New England

By BERT FORD

After having New England on the dissecting table for two days, B. C. Forbes, expert in finance and business for the Hearst newspapers, in a cursory diagnosis says that some of her major ills are:

Too many members of the second and third generations of wealth who are smug and satisfied and do nothing to develop the territory.

B. C. Forbes

Lack of the aggressive spirit of their fathers and forefathers who faced any obstacle, danger and sacrifice to accomplish what they started out to do.

LACKING IN ACTION

Failure to use the wealth within her boundary to develop her territories.

Inadequate port and transportation facilities.

Absence of "the spark" for vigor and enterprise of youth.

That's what Mr. Forbes told several hundred members of the Traffic Club of New England at a rousing meeting at Hotel Somerset. He will have more to say later and after his full survey of conditions here has been completed he will write a series about New England for the world to read.

The scholarly, dark-haired young specialist was given a warm welcome. President A. F. Russell, who presided, introduced Mr. Forbes as an "Apostle of Optimism."

TELLS FORBES.

"We are especially fortunate to have with us," said President Russell, "Mr. B. C. Forbes, financial editor of the Hearst newspapers and publisher of Forbes magazine, who through his writings for the Hearst newspapers addresses 5,000,000 persons daily. He has come to imbue the spirit of New England and to broadcast it throughout the length and breadth of the country."

Mr. Forbes punctuated his talk with stories and witticisms.

His close-ups of Rockefeller, Morgan and others were enjoyed. He told of attending all the railroad hearings in New York and Washington and of the cries of "wrecking and looting." He said even J. P. Morgan was charged with taking part in the looting of the New Haven road when as a matter of fact it was his not...

BUSINESS ETHICS ALTER.

"Mr. Morgan would have as soon lifted his mother's touch as that road which he wanted to make one of the greatest organizations in the country.

"Transportation in New England is suffering. Port facilities are inadequate, but what of the future? I know that necessity will find a solution and I firmly believe it will be found before long.

"Captain Robert Dollar, who sits at the table here, made a success of the shipping business because he mixed brains with the running of his ships. New England transportation problems can be solved and will be solved by brains.

PORT FACILITIES.

"Money is also needed. It may be all right to boast of the size of the bank deposits of New England, but bank deposits will not do the work unless the money is used for local trade and development. Wealth should be put into use within New England. You can do many things with money and few things without.

"Millions are being spent in the South in port development. The ports in New England are in need of development. The railroads are not pulling enough at present.

"The city of Boston should not overlook her port facilities. There is plenty of talking, but there should be action. There are those who think that Boston's future is rather circumscribed. I have talked with bankers and industrial men since my arrival and I find complaint that there are too many men of the second and third generations to manage old men who have made their fortunes and who, with the men of the second and third generations, are content to stand still.

"What seems to be wanted here is the old New England spirit that caused her men to brave the prairies and to sail the seas and to accomplish what they sought. There are too many here who are satisfied with their snug savings instead of doing something with their money to make New England greater. I believe that the New England business men of fifty years ago would have grasped the automobile industry and developed it before Detroit."

ARREST CHINAMAN FOR RECKLESS DRIVE

Howard Doo, Shawmut avenue Chinaman, thought he was "putting one over" on the Cambridge police. Howard drove recklessly through Cambridge, according to Patrolman O'Connor, who chased him. Thinking of the ostrich who hides by burying his head in the sand, Howard turned out the lights on his car so the police couldn't see him.

The police did see him, though, and Howard was in East Cambridge Court today for driving so as to endanger lives, driving without lights and refusing to stop for a policeman. The case was continued until May 1.

BIG FILM SHOWS CAPTURE OF JERUSALEM

"With Allenby in Palestine" at Tremont Temple Takes Hub by Storm

Lowell Thomas and his feature picture, "With Allenby in Palestine and Lawrence in Arabia," presented at Tremont Temple, took Boston by storm just as surely and fully as ... General Allenby captured Jerusalem.

The picture and the lecture by Mr. Thomas told of General Allenby as the leader of the "Twentieth century crusade" to the Holy Land.

Mr. Thomas began his American tour with the presentation of the picture in Boston. In London alone, during a run of seven months, the picture was witnessed by more than 1,000,000 persons.

The picture, accompanied by Mr. Thomas' lecture, portrayed the triumphant yet modest entrance of General Allenby and his staff in Jerusalem after that city surrendered to the British. Mr. Thomas pointed out that some of General Allenby's officers occupied more prominent positions in the picture of the entrance through the historic Damascus gate than did the general himself.

Mr. Thomas, incidentally, is Ohio born, Colorado raised, and world tramped.

"When Allenby captured Jerusalem," he declared, "it meant to my mind the most dramatic feat in all human history. Richard Coeur-de-Leon, to come down to plain facts, only reached the top of Nebi Samwil, from which he viewed the goal of the Crusaders.

"William of Hohenzollern entered Jerusalem on a white charger, dressed in white robes, followed by a resplendent and also ridiculous retinue.

"When Allenby entered the Holy City he stood modestly while another man read aloud his brief and extremely business-like proclamation."

POINCARE GIVES LIE TO SOVIET CHARGES

Paris, April 23 (A.P.).—Premier Poincare telegraphed today to Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of Russia saying that in recently transmitting the appeal of the French intellectuals for clemency toward their imprisoned Russian conferees, France had no intention of mixing in the internal affairs of Russia, as M. Tchitcherin charged in his reply.

"The government of Moscow," said the Premier's message, "is free to take cognizance or not of the considerations of humanity which were presented to it.

"As regards the allegation that the condemned persons at Kiev had collaborated with the French secret service, it is absolutely false."

AUTOS SOUGHT FOR DISABLED VETS

usual intelligence and fighting ability. But it had a long, interesting history before that.

MR. HAMILTON HOLT, who means well and talks earnestly, says that if we continue passing such unpleasant laws as the one shutting out Asiatic immigration we shall have small chance of collecting our foreign debts.

Very likely, but the chance there is small anyhow. The total amount of those debts is ten billions and it were better to lose ten times ten billions, and then twice that, than, out of soft heartedness or short asininity, to allow this country to be settled by Asiatics—for that would mean losing the whole country and the white race as well.

MUSSOLINI says Rome is again to extend her empire over the world, and be all that she ever was, the ruling power on earth. More power to Italy and to Mussolini.

BUT CONDITIONS have changed since the Mediterranean was first named because it was supposed to be what its name implies, the middle of all important things. What the Mediterranean used to be and what the Atlantic has been lately, the Pacific Ocean is destined to be in the centuries to come.

BUT WHOEVER can control the short cut through the Suez Canal into the Red Sea and out into the Indian Ocean may also control the Pacific.

That might as well be done by Italy as by any other country—especially if Italy produces a few more Mussolinis. Let's hope, however, that civilized nations will soon combine to develop the earth collectively, instead of trying to rule individually.

SENATOR HEFLIN, of Alabama, rebukes President Coolidge for discontinuing the habit of shaking hands with everybody that comes to the White House. Mr. Heflin's objection is creditable to his kind heart and democratic feeling. But is there any good reason in a nation that insists on separate drinking cups for indiscriminate exchange of germs via indiscriminate hand shaking?

If Mr. Coolidge had been elected President of a nation of red Indians and had decided to give up nose rubbing, would not Senator Heflin have applauded? The difference between rubbing noses and shaking hands is not great.

THERE MAY be political trouble soon in England. Liberals and the Conservatives have power to put Labor out of office at any minute and are becoming restive. They say that Labor treats Liberal and Conservative leaders with little respect, not consulting them, etc. That's likely, and it's quite true that Asquith, Lloyd George and the Tories combined could put out Labor.

BUT THE English statesmen are level headed. They ought to ask themselves whether there wasn't a time, quite recently, when Labor leaders didn't receive much consideration and were not frequently consulted by those in power?

UNTIL LABOR makes a serious mistake, as it will in time—all parties do—it would be wise for British Liberals to give the workingmen a fair chance.

If they make martyrs of them, by putting them out without very good reason, they may come back by a vote that would make them independent of both Liberals and Tories.

PRINCE NARUHITO, third son of the Mikado of Japan, has cancelled his passage to the United States. He was coming this Summer, but has changed his mind. Probably recent legislation on Asiatic immigration accounts for the change. This country will regret it, and hopes to see him a little later.

THE UNITED STATES respects the leaders of Japan, including the Mikado, and his advisers, who have led the marvelous accomplishments of that extraordinary, able nation.

We intend to reserve the United States for the kind of people that live here now. We are aware of the fact that in many ways we could not compete with the Asiatics, especially with the most able and energetic of them all, the Japanese.

We reserve the right to manage our own territory, as Japan manages hers. There isn't any reason why that should cause any lack of friendship between the two countries—assuming that Japan has no intention, open or secret, of overcoming the American will in that respect.

PINCHOT LAYS DEFEAT TO OLD LIQUOR GANG

Says He Proposes to Press Dry Enforcement More Than Ever

Harrisburg, Pa., April 23.—Governor Pinchot in a statement today declared his "surprise" this week have elected Senator Grundy and have beaten him, and asserted "this vote does not represent the conference and issues of Pennsylvania."

The Governor said he and hands to maintain and asserted the vote in merely proof that the old alliance between liquor and gang politics in Pennsylvania criminals in full force and effect."

He marked the friends of law and order "to give no credence to the wet claim that my defeat is a setback for the cause of law enforcement," declaring, "the proposes to take this matter in hand more vigorously than ever."

"I would definitely rather be beaten as the enemy of liquor than win on its friends. I have been through many fights, and I know by experience that a defeat for principle does no man harm.

"From returns so far received, it appears that the wets have elected a treasurer and have beaten me, accepting their intention of going I have no personal complaint to make."

NEWPORT BEACH BEDAUBED BY TANKER'S OIL

Black Fluid From Stranded Ship Disfigures Playground of Society

Those fashionable Summer colonists who dot the coast of Newport from Bailey's Beach around to Head House are in grave danger of having their 1924 Summer season ruined by an invasion of the same maledorous fluid that has wrecked so many political careers during the past weeks.

The Bailey's and Hazard's peaceful playgrounds of society are spoiled by a sticky black smear off from the sunken Llewellyn Howland, now stranded on Brenton's reef with holes in her storage compartments.

The tanker is breaking up and the waves that are dashing across the beaches are carrying increasing quantities of the fluid that has so far been seen on the men and women from a "Pall" in Washington's office.

It would not, Chief Engineer Mr. Bosley of the Navy Department, discovered that. In some sections of the shore the sea has sent spray over the sea wall that has covered ocean-avenue itself with a coating of oil will take some time to wear away.

It will take heroic efforts, say experts to clean up the beaches before society comes to play under unbecoming sunshades and discuss golf.

Time was when it was perfectly proper to speak of "pouring oil on the troubled waters." Since the days of Washington and Newport that's as bad taste as sending Harry Sinclair a teapot for a birthday present.

COOLIDGE SWAMPS JOHNSON IN JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., (I.N.S.)—April 23.—President Coolidge won a sweeping victory over Senator Hiram Johnson in Tuesday's Republican presidential primary, according to returns today from over 2,000 of the state's 2,500 election districts. Johnson apparently failed to win a delegate of the State's thirty-one delegates to the national convention. With only 69 districts to be heard from, the vote stands: Coolidge 93,743; Johnson, 59,187.

AMERICANS IN JAPAN ARE GUARDED

"War" Placards Stir Tokio Populace; Leaders Caution Against Violence

Tokio, April 23 (A.P.)—Reports on the American immigration legislation as it affects Japan were submitted to a meeting of the Privy Council today by Premier Kiyoura and Foreign Minister Matsui. It is understood that the council generally endorsed the government's conduct.

Precautions have been ordered by the police to protect the persons and property of American residents of Tokio. Although some "patriots" are distributing warning of the approach of a Japanese-American war, thus far there have been no untoward incidents. Many speakers, while bitterly attacking the United States as a nation, are cautioning their audiences against violence locally, pointing out this would only be a boomerang to Japan.

"There are strong indications that the government will maintain its policy against retaliation and will be able to enforce it," Cablegrams persuade Tokio, due partly to a still lingering hope that President Coolidge will veto the anti-Japanese amendment to the immigration bill, and partly to the realization of leaders here that retaliation not only would be futile but also would result in greater damage to Japan than to America since economic relations between the two countries are more vital to Japan than to the United States.

RAINCOAT AND $30 TAKEN IN HOLDUP

Arthur W. Gould of No. 992 Dorchester avenue, South Boston, was robbed of $30 and a raincoat on Washington street, near Kneeland, he told the police, when he was approached by a young man who asked for a match.

Gould stepped into a doorway to reach into his pockets for the match when he was seized from behind by a second stranger and held in an iron grip while the first man rifled his pockets of money.

Lowell, April 23.—Martin Conway, a constable and special deputy sheriff of Essex County, dropped dead today in ice coritmoer, Gorham street. He was fifty-five years old.

Conway, who lived in North Billerica, visited the courthouse on business today and had been there only a few minutes when he was stricken. He is believed to have been a victim of a heart attack.

Los Angeles—Elisha J. Babcock, 49, confidential secretary to three United States Secretaries of State, is dead here. He served un der John Hay, John Sherman and Elihu Root.

Dad's 2nd Marriage Leads Son to Court on Auto Charge

The fact that a man embarks on a second matrimonial venture doesn't mean his son can drive around silent policemen and graze the running-boards of other automobiles if the Arlington police can help it.

Patrolman Dick attracted by the driving of two autoists near Arlington Centre, arrested them, Harland S. Evans of No 11 Marshall street, Medford, was driving his father, Charles H. Evans, who had just been married for the second time, to Boston, with the bride. Pursuing them in another automobile was Ray Fleming of No. 25 Henry street, Medford.

Young Evans and Fleming were in East Cambridge Court today, charged with reckless driving. Their case was placed on file, and they were ordered to pay $40 court expenses.

INCURABLES CARED FOR AT ASHMONT

This is the fifty-first of a series of articles which is a sequel to this newspaper's investigation of medical quackery in Greater Boston.

If you are not acquainted with reputable physicians and wish to make sure of obtaining expert advice and fair dealing the series will show you how to avoid quacks by patronizing Boston's health centres, the best in the country.

One of the few institutions in Boston which will accept incurable cases is the Boston Home for Incurables at Codman street and Dorchester avenue, Ashmont, which has just completed its forty-second year of service to the public.

The practices of medical impostors are unknown at this hospital, which numbers on its board of trustees many of Boston's leading citizens.

Contagious cases are not admitted, nor are cases of cancer, consumption, asthma epilepsy, mental derangement, or any disease which would render the patient liable to disturb or annoy other members of the home.

A private teacher instructs the young patients two hours daily. They are also taught sewing and many useful things which keep their minds occupied.

The institution is strictly unsectarian.

Patients who can, pay $10 a week. If not, the rate of charge is adjusted by the Admission Committee. Others are cared for gratuitously. No person is admitted who has not been a resident of Massachusetts for the three years preceding his application.

Miss Ann M. Mitchell is superintendent.

SAY COOLIDGE HAS TAKEN ON ADDED LOAD

Political Activities Doubled by Plunge Into European Politics

Washington, April 23 (I.N.S.)—The scope of President Coolidge's political activities have doubled. Already busy with his presidential campaign, Mr. Coolidge returned to Washington today from New York to take upon himself the added burden imposed by his deliberate plunge into European politics.

No outward change may be expected in the American policy toward the reparations settlement and other European problems as the result of the President's declaration of his desire to extend a helping hand across the Atlantic, administration officials said today, adding, however, that the President has pointed the way and thus made the United States more than ever an important factor in any European adjustment.

In Congress, where suggestions for a new world armament conference have been frowned upon by administration leaders, Mr. Coolidge's warm endorsement of proposals for further limitation caused distinct surprise.

Less than a month ago, when Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania tried to put a resolution through the Senate calling for a new conference to limit naval and aircraft construction, there was a general understanding that the President disapproved of the move and that he did not think the present condition of international affairs augured for the success of such an undertaking. The same thing happened in the House when the Naval Appropriation Bill was under consideration.

Now that the President has indicated his approval of another armament conference as soon as Europe's economic stability is assured, renewed efforts will be made to get the President's endorsement of the Pepper resolution.

Everything depends, however, upon a reparations settlement based upon the Dawes plan.

London Views Coolidge's Speech Warning to France

London April 23 (I.N.S.).—President Coolidge's speech, especially his plea for the Dawes reparations plan and general disarmament, was warmly welcomed in England. It was admitted in official circles Premier Ramsay MacDonald was prepared to support any disarmament movement the United States may make.

Some newspapers intimated that the speech might be regarded as a warning to France not to attempt to wreck the Dawes plan nor any future attempt to bring about a disarmament conference.

In this connection the Daily News said:

"President Coolidge's announcement of his readiness to call another conference to consider disarmament and to codify international laws is of the highest importance.

ISOLATION OF FRANCE.

"It may safely be said that if any serious attempt is made by the French government to torpedo this new peace effort with all its hopeful consequences implied in the good news from America, the isolation of France will be final and complete."

Premier MacDonald has been anxious for a definite statement that the United States supports the Dawes plan. He has felt ever since the plan was published that a statement in its support by America would aid in bringing France into line.

Premier MacDonald feels with President Coolidge that the reparation problem, which has disturbed Europe for so many years, must be settled first.

The Manchester Guardian the chief Liberal newspaper outside of London, commented:

WISHES TO HELP.

"So long as France remains nervous about the security of her eastern frontier, disarmacy will continue because there will be armaments everywhere in Europe. But with a real settlement of reparations her ground for fear will be immensely diminished.

"Let us deal with reparations and rejoice that Mr. Coolidge's speech shows how keen the United States is in wishing to help out in straightening up the aftermath of the war."

Only a Campaign Speech, Is French View

Paris, April 23.—The French foreign office today took the view that President Coolidge's speech was a political campaign document for home consumption.

Foreign office officials said the speech contained no new points of view regarding America's foreign policies. Officials held the speech to be a "statement of Republican Party ideals and a domestic discourse upon politics."

GEN. TAYLOR TO BE BEACH'S SUCCESSOR

Washington, April 23.—Secretary Weeks announced today that Brigadier-General Harry Taylor, assistant chief of army engineers, had been selected to be chief to succeed Major-General Lansing Beach, who retires from active service June 18.

Corns Are Best of Weather Prophets, Say Chemists

Washington, April 23.—Foot discomforts which come with changing weather were attributed by experts at the American Chemical Society convention here today to shrinking of leather in shoes.

"The greatest difference in this respect," they said, "is found between chrome tanned and vegetable tanned leathers.

"Chrome shoes have the property of increasing the sensitivity of prognosticators by the changing degree of pain in their corns. The tighter structure of vegetable shoes keeps their shape better after a period of wear."

DIRTY DOLLARS IN BONUS, SAYS UNDERWOOD

Soldiers Dishonored by Offering Them Money, Declares Alabama Senator

Washington, April 23.—Opening the bonus debate today Senator Underwood, Democrat, Alabama, declared the attack against the bonus. He advocated a pension law, but declared it impossible to compensate the former soldiers for their service.

"You dishonor these protectors of our nation by offering them dirty dollars," Mr. Underwood said, "or by proposing to give them these insurance policies.

"The man who fought on the first line of battle will have to carry this country in the next twenty years. You very cunningly fixed this bonus so that it won't be paid for twenty years and propose that these men instead of you will have to pay for it.

"You're adding under this legislation an enormous tax to an already heavy burden. The doctors disagree as to the cost of the bill. One estimate says it will cost $2,200,000,000. The Treasury actuary, Mr. McCoy, says it will cost $3,600,000,000, and the Treasury is probably right."

"I want it distinctly understood that I shall vote against any bonus measure presented here. It would be a reflection on the service given by my son," said Underwood.

"Yet the Senator would reflect on it by letting war profiteers keep their profits," declared Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa.

"That is not the issue here," returned the Alabama Senator. "They already are hidden behind tax exempt securities."

A proposal that holders of tax-exempt securities pay the cost of the soldier bonus by voluntarily foregoing their income from this source for four years was made by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina.

"We have been hearing of the pure patriotism of these bondholder era," he said. "Here's a chance for them to show it."

ASK RECEIVER FOR HOUSE OF DAVID

Fraud Charged in Operation of Colony Headed by Purnell, Fugitive "King"

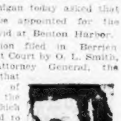
St. Joseph, Mich., April 23.—The State of Michigan today asked that a receiver be appointed for the House of David at Benton Harbor.

In a petition filed in Berrien County Circuit Court by O. L. Smith, Assistant Attorney General, the State asks that all holdings of the colony, the value of which are estimated to be "in excess of $50,000," be placed in the hands of a receiver.



Benjamin Purnell

The State bases its petition on alleged fraud which it charges marked the change of the colony in 1907 from a corporation to a voluntary religious organization, free from restrictions under which corporations are operated.

The colony was incorporated in 1902 as the Israelite House of David. Church of the New Eve, Body of Christ.

In 1907 a voluntary religious organization was formed known simply as the Israelite House of David.

At this time the State avers, members of the original colony turned over all their property to "King" Benjamin Purnell and his wife, "Queen" Mary. Purnell is now a fugitive from justice. He is facing charges brought by two former girl members of the colony.

CHILD LABOR BILL PUT OFF IN SENATE

Washington, April 23.—An effort to set a definite date for consideration by the Senate of the child labor amendment failed today on objection by Democratic Senators. Senator Lodge asked that the resolution proposing the amendment be called up on May 6, but Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, said he thought the matter should be deferred.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. F. X. MAHONEY, Boston Health Commissioner

Dr. Mahoney

A LOT is trying to make quick adjustments from polluted, superheated, extra dry air to zero air or cold fog, and fighting consequent nose, throat and lung infections for four or five months. The strongest human body begins to feel the strain.

Furthermore, when the warmer Spring days come, the body finds that it is suddenly confronted with the problem of getting rid of the unnecessary heat it has developed the habit of generating in order to maintain the normal bodily temperature in the colder weather.

Spring finds the average person not only exhausted, but with his system clogged with partly consumed fuel.

"Spring fever" calls for medical treatment beyond what may be necessary to keep the organs of elimination active, and it is to be remembered that such elimination is promoted by drinking water liberally. Exercise should not be neglected. One will be surprised to find how quickly that languid feeling will disappear if he forces himself to take a brisk walk in the open air. Exercise should always stop short of fatigue. It is especially important that physical exhaustion should not be added to other handicaps to good health in the Spring.

As to food. Don't overload the body. Most people eat too much in the Spring. What the body may have needed in the Winter may become a burdensome or poisonous surplus in the warmer weather.

I would like to know what causes convulsions in young children and what would be the best thing for me to do if my baby should get one. MRS. M. H. O.

Convulsions are usually due to disturbances of digestion. The first thing to be done is to call your family doctor. A hot mustard bath could be given, after which the child should be wrapped in a blanket until the arrival of the doctor.

I have occasional attacks of gall stones. Do you know of any home remedies which I could use for this trouble? I do not want to be operated on. MRS. E. W. C.

Hot fomentations should be applied to the abdomen and hot baths are also efficacious. The patient should be given laxatives and large quantities of alkaline water. The diet must be regulated to exclude as far as possible starch or sugar products. In some cases, an operation is advisable.

What is the cause of freckles and do you know a good treatment for them? E. A. J.

Freckles are due to increased local deposit of pigment in the skin. They are always more distinct in summer, but it is thought the influence of the sun's rays increases their distinctiveness, though it is doubtful if it can cause them. Many methods of treatment have been recommended for their removal, but in most cases, the improvement is not permanent. Among the milder measures recommended is hydrochloric acid of soda 15 to 30 grains; or hypochlorite of sulphur ointment.

Where is the danger in a cesspool on a premises or an estate? J. N. B.

The danger depends on the character of the soil and how near the cesspool is to a well. If you build a cesspool you should abandon any nearby well. There are instances where cesspools are a necessity, but these may be made safe and inoffensive by means of proper supervision, screening and occasional emptying.

CRYSTALS USED IN UNUSUAL AMPLIFIER

Amplification Not as Great as With Tubes, but Distortion Eliminated

The use of crystals for amplifier stages instead of detectors is something new, although the theory is not original. The crystal itself can, of course, give no amplification, but the turn ratio on the transformers has this effect.

As when used for detection, the crystal is without distortion in such an amplifier. It is, however, impossible to avoid a certain amount of distortion in the transformers and phones, but this is, of course, present in tube sets also. At present there is no way of avoiding this.

The following parts will be needed: Two audio-frequency transformers—one of 10 to 1 ratio and another of 6 to 1 ratio; two perfectly insulated crystal detector units, two very sensitive gelena crystals, two mica fixed condensers, .001 mfd. capacity; one "B" battery, 22½ volts; six building posts and one panel, 7x5.

FOLLOW DIAGRAM.

The diagram must be followed very carefully. Of special improvement is the connection after the first amplifying crystal. The wire that comes from the secondary of the first transformer and goes through the crystal is to be connected to the secondary of the second transformer.

No baseboard is to be used. The transformers should be mounted at right angles to each other on the inside of the panel. The first crystal should be placed above the first transformer, and the second crystal above the second transformer on the front of the panel. The connections to both of them should be reversed to give the best volume.

In wiring, use pure, soft-drawn copper wire or gold-plated wire. Under no circumstances should you use the tinned bus bar wire, as its surface conductively is very low.

For the sake of tone quality use fixed condensers having a mica dielectric, and connect these directly on the posts of the transformer as shown in the diagram. Since different transformers vary greatly in their construction, it would be worth while to experiment with the capacity of the two fixed condensers.

TO OPERATE SET.

In operating this amplifier connect the phone terminals of the set to the primary of the first transformer; then carefully manipulate the first crystal until the greatest volume is obtained. Follow this by manipulating the second crystal for louder results. After a little practice the two crystals can be worked simultaneously.

This amplifier, although it cannot compare with the regular two-stage amplifier using tubes, will be free from the tube noises of the latter amplifier. Under good conditions, a crystal set will do very good work with this unit, and the locals will come in as strong as on the ordinary two-tube regenerative receiver.

If, due to the location of the receiver, one of these units fails to operate a loud speaker, two of them should be constructed. The second amplifier should use one medium ratio transformer and one low ratio transformer. It should be connected in the same way as the first unit, and should be placed after the first unit, with its input posts connected to the output posts of the first amplifier.

DISTORTIONLESS A. F. AMPLIFICATION

TWO STAGE CRYSTAL AMPLIFIER

As near absolute fidelity of reproduction as is possible to obtain may be secured by the use of a crystal amplifier as shown above. Such an amplifier will not give nearly the volume of a tube amplifier, but with a good detector, it should give loud-speaker signals on local stations. Any number of stages may be used.

Radio Receiving Conditions Tonight

Radio receiving conditions tonight from stations broadcasting throughout the eastern part of the country should be good. Those from the West and farther points are not expected to be so good, because of low barometric pressure area prevailing throughout that area.

Radio Queries

1.—My four-tube Super spills over when I turn the radio-frequency rheostat over 1-3. 2.—Why am I unable to bring in Boston as I used to on my regenerative set? All stations under 300 miles are very weak, but above 300 are very good. R. E. S.

1.—Tip of the coils is wrong or coil leads are incorrect. 2.—This is the result of a failure of regeneration on the higher waves. If you are using a plate variometer, you need a larger one, and if you are using a tickler, you should have more turns on it. This may also be caused by low A battery.

I hooked up a set according to the diagram enclosed, but got no results. The tube gives a ringing sound when tapped and a loud buzzing is heard in the phones. B. L.

The hookup as shown is correct, and I do not see why you get nothing. If you are near electric light or power lines, the buzzing is a natural phenomenon, but should not be too loud. Test condensers for shorts and transformers for opens.

I get local stations all right on my Super, but most of the outside stations are very faint. Can just hear them, but cannot bring them in. My antenna is a wire wound around a 20x10 deck. W. R. E.

The trouble is probably in the antenna as you suggest. You can either try the type recommended by the signal corps, or try winding the wire around the deck three or four times, leaving about three inches between turns.

Enclosed is a diagram of my set. Can you tell me why I don't get good results? A. W. M.

Your set is the standard three circuit, variocoupler-tico-variometer receiver. If made according to your diagram it is an excellent set. Our experience is that most cases of failure with this is due to inexperience in tuning. Experience in this comes only with practice. In spite of its popularity, the three-circuit regenerative set is not easy to tune.

The Listener

Last night's program by the Boston American Orchestra at WNAC should quiet those who cavil at the public taste in music. Every number played was the result of many requests, and yet it was all of a high order. Perhaps there are purists who think that no music has been written since the 18th century, but if they listened last night they may feel differently. That march, "En Avant," had us going.

Last night was an exceptionally fine night for the local stations. At WTAT the Harvard Freshmen Musical Clubs did some good stuff. The song, "When She Was Good, She Was Very Very Good," was excellent.

Also later at WNAC there was Irma Seydell, a concert violinist of some prominence. The violin reproduces well by radio, and the program was good, with the exception of Dvorak's "Humoresque," for which we have sworn eternal hatred. The melody, you know, is based on "Way Down Upon the Swanee River," and we like th original better. Miss Seydel's own "Song Without Words," was very good, too, and the first time we had heard it.

SOLID ANTENNA WIRE IS BEST, EXPERT SAYS

According to Dr. J. H. Dellenger, chief of the Radio Laboratory of the Bureau of Standards, a fairly long and high antenna is the cheapest way to get loud signals with the simplest receiving sets.

To get the best results, an outdoor antenna, used for great distances or for crystal sets, one should use a single, continuous copper wire, 50 to 150 feet long, direct from the set to the highest point available at the distant end.

Good insulation is necessary, and he recommends that the wire be swung over a clear space, if possible, with at least five feet clearance over all objects crossed. Number 14 solid, bare, copper wire, or larger sizes are recommended, since it has low resistance and results in loud signals.

INSULATE WIRE.

Stranded wire, though stronger, is not considered quite as good as solid wire. Insulated wire, he explained, is not especially detrimental, but costs more than bare wire.

From 50 to 150 feet is the usual length recommended for broadcast reception; longer aerials bring in stronger signals, he says, and are more certain to bring distant stations. But they also bring in more interference, including static.

"Antenna length," he sums up, "is a compromise between loudness of signals and freedom from interference."

CONSIDER QUALITY.

The public trend is no longer for distance but quality of reception, he believes. If, however, one wants to astonish his friends with a long distance record, he explains, let him erect a "whale of a long antenna" or use a very sensitive, many tube receiving set, or both, and pile up a record.

Receiving sets using tubes work well with indoor antennas or loops, the latter aiding in directional effects, but these antennas are relatively weak and therefore the signals must be amplified, he explained.

LISTEN FOR KING GEORGE TONIGHT

London, April 23.—For the first time in history the whole of the British Empire will be able to hear simultaneously King George speaking when he opens the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley tonight.

By means of microphone and land-line installation his speech will be conveyed to a central radio station from where it will be broadcast.

Experts predict that with a minimum of atmospheric disturbances, the speech will be easily heard in the United States.

EMERGENCY WORK ON B BATTERIES

If your "B" batteries are run down and you are not in the position to purchase new ones for a few days, then place them in a warm oven for a few hours. You will find that they will greatly increase in voltage. Say that a "B" battery registered 30 volts, then after baking it will go to about 40 volts or perhaps more. This scheme is not recommended unless in an emergency, as it is a rather dirty job and is usually not worth the trouble.

GREATER VOLUME BY HIGHER VOLTAGE

The higher the voltage placed on the plate of the last step of amplification used in connection with the loud speaker, the louder will be the signal up to a certain point. Amplifying tubes now on the market will stand about 150 volts without any trouble. This requires six or seven B batteries.

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

Now Is the Time for All Good Men to Join the Stand-Up-For-New England Movement.

The Thing to Do Is to GET SOMETHING DONE by Responsible Parties for New England Railroads.

Minute Men, Stop Being "Pullman Pikers," Join the Stand-Up-For New England Movement

Orders from General Headquarters of the Minute Men call for a sustained attack upon the "Pullman Pikers" of New England.

"Pullman Pikers" are New Englanders who lack the courage or the mental equipment to stand up for their section when orators of the Pullman smoking room talk about New England "going to the dogs."

They are the men of New England who are devoid of the spirit of Minute Men.

They are the apologists, the weak-minded and white-livered, who maintain silence or make admissions which lend aid and comfort to the enemies and detractors of New England.

And there are plenty of those traveling in the Pullmans. The number has reached the proportions of an organized drive against New England.

The average Yankee is too prone to keep silent when he hears a stranger giving eloquent tongue to mis-statements about New England.

He knows they are wrong and supposes the other Pullman smokers know as much.

That is where he is wrong. He takes too much for granted.

The word is being passed around to the business organizations to stand up for New England, at home and abroad, on every occasion.

"Of course, we are not satisfied with conditions," declare the men who are behind the Stand-Up-For-New-England movement, "but we have reached the limit of our patience with those people who are pitying us.

"It is time to let them know we have just begun to fight and have no intention of surrendering our industries."

The United States today is merely a Greater New England.

That should be the slogan at the launching of the Stand-Up-For-New-England movement.

Just because this great country of ours is growing rapidly, it stands to reason that there must be a consistent expansion of business, industry and labor.

No one State or section can have all the profitable business, or all the big industry or all the best labor for all the time.

New England's record in industrial leadership never will be equalled. For more than a century it was unchallenged.

But let us face the facts. In sixty years the population of the country has tripled. It has grown from 38,000,000 in 1865 to 110,000,000 in 1920.

And, while the country was increasing in population by 72,000,000, New England was adding 5,000,000.

New England has experienced intensive industrial development and suffered an agricultural lapse.

The Middle West and Far West in turn became the land of raw food supplies.

A few years ago the industrial pendulum swung to the Middle West and crowded farming out. Now it is swinging to the South.

Growth, expansion, discovery of raw material resources have been the compelling influences.

The field of industrial competitors has increased in number. The entrants have been handled by skilled trainers. The rivalry is keen. Prizes have increased in number.

No competitor expects to capture all the prizes but all will strive to the utmost.

That is what New England industry must do. It must carry off no less number of prizes than usual and as many more as possible.

Industry is New England's most important asset. Business, brains and skilled labor are its best safeguards.

Its other essential safeguard was badly crippled by Wall Street financiers a few years ago and is convalescing slowly.

Transportation is the name of that safeguard.

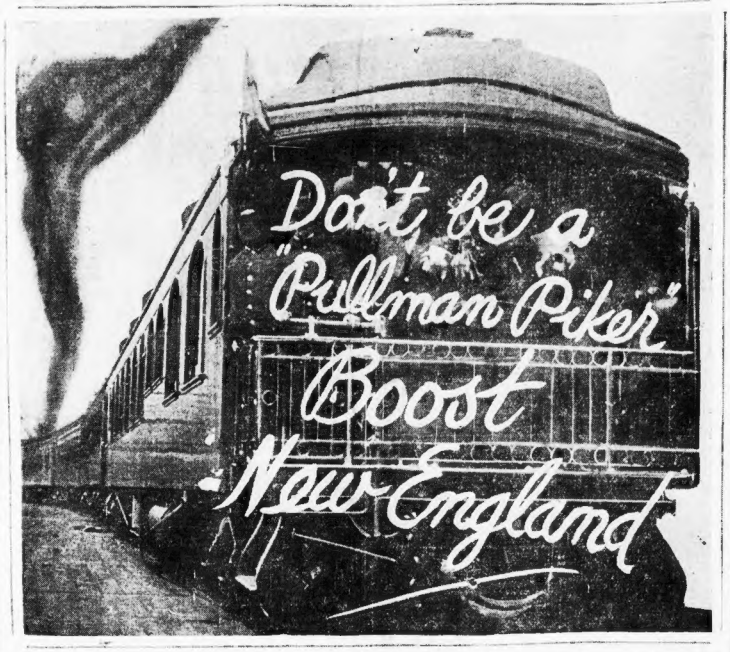
Its rehabilitation has been discouraging and numerous consultations of experts have proved ineffective.

No one in New England would blame our "Pullman Pikers" for admitting that our railroads have foundered and that there has been no such thing as railroad freight service here for more than a dozen years, because that is the truth.

But they will be blamed if they admit this was a death blow to our industries.

They will be denounced as traitors if they agree that, because new textile mills have been built in the South and new boot and shoe factories in other sections, the beginning of the end of these industries in New England is marked.

We are still supreme in textiles and in boots and shoes, although the South is making a spurt in the former and the Middle West in the latter.



Spurts in other sections must be expected later in both of these industries. When they come, we will hear the South and Middle West crying out against competition and demanding legislative safeguards.

Mills have been laying off operatives in this State on the ground of over-production even while certain mill owners have been demanding repeal of State law so they could work their employes longer hours.

Mills are closing in New Hampshire because men and women employes will not work to the limits of health and strength; will not agree to increase the per capita output to a point to be determined by mill doctors.

We have a boot and shoe industry problem, but it is not so much one of competition as of jealousy in the ranks of organized labor. The best-working arbitration system in the world operates right in Massachusetts.

Manufacturers, for the most part, prefer union shoe workers. They favor the personal contract system and reference of disputes to the proper State board.

That plan has worked well until recently. Trouble has come because there has been no rotation of union honors and privileges. A few have held them all.

New England is not losing the boot and shoe industry just because some Pullman orator, en route elsewhere after a visit here, emphasizes the fact that our factories are running on slack schedule.

The truth is that there is a slump in the industry all over the country. It is even worse in the Middle West than here.

But all these things are of relatively minor importance.

What is the backbone of New England prosperity?

Every Minute Man will answer that it is her manufacturing industry.

What is the greatest need of industry everywhere?

Adequate transportation.

Our railroad passenger service is far from being what it should be, but our New England railroad freight service is probably the worst in the United States.

If New England railroads had not been sandbagged by exploiting Wall Street and blacklisted by rulings of the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has imposed unfair rates and differentials, New England industrial leadership would be unquestioned.

All official industrial reports show that New England, even under the most adverse transportation conditions, has done better than hold her own.

But, we should not be satisfied with that. We must organize with the real spirit of Minute Men for a speedy adjustment of our railroad transportation difficulties which will give our industries service commensurate with healthy development.

It is true, absolutely true, that the very life of our industry depends upon transportation, largely upon railroad freight service. Transportation heights is our objective. The call of leadership is for patriots, not pikers.

A campaign such as the old Minute Men would have waged must be undertaken for the rehabilitation of New England transportation.

The alternatives so far offered are a combination of all New England railroads into one system with trunk line connections or an arrangement of the separate roads with trunk lines, or government ownership.

What is needed is an organized forward movement upon the Interstate Commerce Commission, or Congress, if the commission fails us.

With something like a system of dependable railroad service in operation, our Pullman Pikers would be transformed into Pullman Patriots.

Enough of this cowardice in the Pullmans and bewailing in the business pulpits!

Stand up for New England! March on to Washington with a new Declaration of Independence and a new Bill of Rights.

We demand relief from our transportation suffering. We insist that Philadelphia and Baltimore shall not be favored any longer over Boston.

These things can be said effectively by our Pullman Patriots every day and decisively when all New England forms in battle array.

We are slow of speech and slow to wrath. But this rumbling for a Stand-Up-For-New-England campaign is indicative that New England feels she has been too long-suffering on the transportation question.

Let us welcome and help the honest seeker for facts and the constructive critic. We can learn from them to our advantage.

Lives there a man in New England with a mind so dumb that he does not know what to say when he hears New England ignorantly belittled?

Yes, there does. It is Mr. Pullman Piker, and his tribe is legion.

He does not seem to know it would flabbergast this pest if he should suggest that the Lake States have but two per cent. of their original pine forests left; that in 1890 Michigan ranked first in pine production and is now sixteenth; that in 1850 New York State ranked first in lumber production and is now twenty-third; that in 1899 Minnesota ranked fourth and now she is twentieth.

While this is a true statement of facts, it would be foolish to contend that it proves these States are "slipping" industrially. Yet it served recently to cause a Pullman orator to "lay off" New England for the balance of a trip and spend his ability in apologies and explanations which did not explain.

It did prove that, as a rule, it pays not to be a Pullman Piker, not to submit in silence or be a croaker when New England is the subject of cheap criticism.

And it is well for New England travelers to know some interesting facts about American commerce and the part New England has played in its history.

Did you know American commerce was founded on trees; that the first big industry of New England, the birthplace of our commerce, was in the sale of timber and wooden ships?

Records are to be found of frequent sales of shiploads of masts and spars in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries to the English Royal Navy and to Madagascar.

There are records of shoes, sewed by the New England farmers at night, which went in barrels to Chile in 1790, and were sold along with cargoes of barrel staves.

Because we lost that timber trade many years ago it did not indicate New England had lost her industrial hope or genius.

It is estimated that the total number of chairs in the United States is 700,000,000, with about 3,500,000 manufactured annually. Pullman Pikers, in your easy chairs, keep these talking points in mind, if you have hope of developing into Minute Men:

The little city of Gardner and the little town of Templeton had a combined furniture output last year valued at more than $26,000,000, of which amount about $13,000,000 is credited to the chair industry alone.

A large percentage of the chairs made in Gardner and Templeton are not expensive, so it can be seen that a very large part of the chair manufacturing of the country is done in those two little Massachusetts communities.

Of course, Minute Men do not believe in boasting, but it is sometimes necessary. There are times when the record of the past must be produced to describe a fixed purpose for the future.

So, in Pullman debates, our men with the right spirit will recall that trading began in this country when the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock, in 1620, swapped clothes, bedding and cooking utensils with Indians for corn and game.

That it has been well said the adventures of Sinbad the Sailor were commonplace compared to those of the early New England traders who sailed to the Canaries, the West Indies, Africa and to the south of the United States for purposes of barter.

These things can be offered as the basis for the declaration of a Minute Man purpose to prove that the New England spirit is awakened to the benefits of commercial leadership and determined to have and to hold our rightful portion of industrial prosperity.

It will profit New England nothing simply to cite the fact that the first apple tree in this country was planted on Governor's Island in Boston harbor.

But it will result in profit if we insist that the tree proved beyond a doubt that New England soil is splendidly adapted to apple growing.

And that, having been jolted into a startling realization of the loss New England has suffered through a surrender of her apple markets to far-away competitors, there has come a new determination to get together and fight for our own again.

Northern capital and northern brains have made it possible for other sections to realize the bounties which nature bestowed upon them. It is time for Minute Men to insist they do it for their own.

We cannot expect to make all the cotton, woolen and leather goods of this country, but we do propose to manufacture, for many years to come, more of them than any other section of our size in the country.

Even if it were true that signs of industrial development elsewhere are indications of New England decadence, it would be the duty of every loyal New Englander to combat it vigorously.

Of course, such a statement is not true, but too often the New England habit of silence conveys the impression that it may be so.

Now is the time for all good men to join the Stand-Up-For-New-England movement.

To shame our Pullman Pikers.

To insist that every New Englander who travels be equipped with facts and the Minute Man spirit to fight for our rights.

And above all, it is time for our business men, our industrialists and our farmers to make Washington understand that a square deal in transportation for New England is long overdue.
